Richmond, Virginia
1996

TO: The Honorable George Allen, Governor, and
the General Assembly of Virginia

I. INTRODUCTION

Adopted by the 1995 Session of the General Assembly, Senate Joint Resolution No. 272 (Appendix A) continued the Joint Subcommittee Studying the Funding Requirements of the Virginia Unemployment Compensation Act ("the Act"). The joint subcommittee continued a tradition of the Virginia Employment Commission (VEC) briefing members on the unemployment insurance trust fund's current and projected adequacy. In addition, the subcommittee has often reviewed and recommended major revisions to the Act, as proposed from time to time by the VEC and business and labor representatives, particularly with regard to benefit levels.

The following General Assembly members were appointed to the joint subcommittee: Senators Schewel from Lynchburg, Benedetti from Richmond, Chichester from Fredericksburg, R.J. Holland from Windsor, and Reasor from Bluefield, together with Delegates Croshaw from Virginia Beach, D.C. Jones from Richmond, J.C. Jones from Norfolk, Nelms from Suffolk, and Newman from Lynchburg. Senator Schewel served as Chairman.

The joint subcommittee met in Richmond on December 1, 1995, to receive the VEC's trust fund briefing, presented by Commissioner Kenneth A. Bolles. The panel also considered a proposal to revise the unemployment benefit tables, as recommended by a coalition of industry organizations.

With September's unemployment rate at 4.5 percent, the subcommittee learned that the Commonwealth's rate was at its lowest level in five years. In terms of trust fund solvency, the panel was advised that as of June 30, 1995, the fund was at nearly 80 percent of solvency. A reduction in total benefit payments and in extended benefit payments from 1994 to 1995 (no extended benefits were tapped in 1995) further reflected the general overall health of the state and national economies in 1995.

Noting the economy's relative strength, a coalition of employer associations presented the joint subcommittee with a proposal to increase the minimum and maximum unemployment benefit levels. After reviewing the VEC's analysis of the impact of the proposal, the panel recommended that legislation be presented to the 1996 Session of the General Assembly to increase the minimum weekly benefit amount (WBA) from $65 to $70 per week and to increase the maximum WBA from $208 to $224.

II. OVERVIEW OF THE PROGRAM

The Federal-State Unemployment Insurance System. The Federal Unemployment Insurance Tax Act (FUTA) was a core component of the federal New Deal legislation passed during the 1930s. FUTA established a federally mandated, state-administered program providing temporary financial relief to working Americans involuntarily unemployed.

In Virginia, qualifying employees who become unemployed through no fault of their own are entitled to weekly benefits prescribed by state law. To qualify, Virginia employees must have earned at least $3,250 in total wages in two of the last four calendar quarters immediately preceding the quarter in which they became unemployed. At this minimum-qualifying level, such employees would receive a weekly benefit amount of $65; the maximum weekly benefit is currently set at $208.

Virginia Program Administration. The Virginia Employment Commission administers the Commonwealth's unemployment insurance program. Title 60.2 of the Virginia Code prescribes the VEC's duties, which include (i) collecting taxes to fund the program, (ii) processing and paying benefit claims, (iii) providing administrative adjudication of contested claims and (iv) ensuring that the unemployment insurance trust fund is adequately funded. The VEC has additional duties which include operating a job service program, providing employment and unemployment statistics, and implementing the federal Job Training Partnership Act.

The VEC's administrative costs are paid from FUTA payroll taxes collected from Virginia employers by the Internal Revenue Service. These moneys are deposited in the Employment Security Administrative Account (ESAA) for appropriation by Congress and allocation by the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL). The VEC administrative funding level is based upon DOL's estimate of VEC's administrative expenses.

Trust fund taxes and benefit payments. Unemployment compensation benefits are paid from a trust fund comprised of taxes collected by the VEC from Virginia employers. It is used solely for paying unemployment compensation benefits to unemployed Virginians. Virginia employers with one or more employees pay trust fund taxes on employee wages up to $8,000. The taxes are "experience rated," i.e., those employers with higher levels of qualifying claims will pay higher tax rates. The minimum tax rate for Virginia's employers is 0.1 percent; the maximum is 6.2 percent. New employers, i.e., those without sufficient experience, are initially charged a tax rate of 2.5 percent.

Employers are also charged a "pool tax" to cover benefits paid out of the trust fund that cannot be charged to specific employers. Pool costs include (i) benefit payments made to employees of employers no longer in business and (ii) coverage of benefit payment costs that cannot be recovered from maximum-rated employers to whom they are attributable because of the 6.2 percent cap. In recent years, pool costs constituted 20 to 50 percent of total benefits. If the trust fund adequacy level is at 50 percent or more, however, pool taxes are offset by interest earned on the trust fund. The trust fund is also supplemented by a 0.2 percent "fund-building" tax whenever the fund's adequacy level drops below 50 percent.

III. VEC BRIEFING

The presentation by Commissioner Bolles to the joint subcommittee highlighted a general overall improvement in key unemployment statistics from 1994 to 1995. The VEC's graphical presentation appears as Appendix B. Data comparing 1994 and 1995 revealed that:

- Unemployment rates in 1995 have been below the same-month 1994 rates.
- Final payments to claimants in 1995 generally have been well below the 1994 levels.
- Overall benefit payouts were lower in 1995 than in 1994.
- There were no payments of extended benefits in 1995, compared with $19.8 million in 1994.

Trust fund figures also showed improvement in 1995. The VEC is required to make a trust fund adequacy calculation each July 1, pursuant to § 60.2-533. The statutory formula is used to calculate how much money the trust fund would need to pay unemployment compensation benefits for an eighteen-month period if (i) benefit payments were at the highest level recorded during the past 25 years and (ii) the trust fund received no income during this interval.

The VEC reported a June 30, 1995, trust fund adequacy level of 79.3 percent, an increase from the 1994 level of 69.7 percent, and from 1993's 64 percent. The projected December 31, 1995, trust fund balance was $766 million, up from $641 million at the end of 1994. Trust fund data also revealed that:

- tax revenue improved in 1995 with increased employment levels.
- interest revenue increased due to higher trust fund balances and higher interest rates paid by the U. S. Treasury.
- benefit payments continued to decline from their recession peak with an improvement in employment levels.

Responding to a 1994 request from the joint subcommittee, the VEC also provided the panel with information regarding the Commonwealth's funding relative to payments to unemployed persons in Virginia. According to second quarter 1995 data, Virginia ranks last among U.S. jurisdictions in the percentage of its unemployed receiving unemployment benefits. In the Commonwealth, 17.6 percent receive benefits, compared with 33.3 percent nationally.

Several factors influence the percentage of a state's unemployed persons receiving benefits. The subcommittee was told that Virginia's qualification requirements, disqualification standard for voluntarily quitting work, work search standards, industry mix, federal workforce and requalification standards are the major factors influencing its ranking among the states. A report prepared by the VEC for the joint subcommittee is attached as Appendix C.

IV. BENEFIT LEVELS

The joint subcommittee studying the unemployment trust fund has traditionally reviewed proposals to revise benefit levels. During its 1989 interim study, the panel last recommended an increase in such levels, and, as a result, Senate Bill No. 236 was enacted in 1990. That legislation increased the minimum WBA from $56 to $60 in 1991, and to $65 in 1992. The same measure increased the maximum WBA from $176 to $198 in 1991, and to $208 in 1992. In addition, SB 236 reinstated the waiting week, which had been eliminated in 1981.

When benefit levels were last adjusted in 1992, the minimum WBA replaced 14 percent of the average weekly wage (AWW); the maximum WBA replaced 44.8 percent of the AWW. The joint subcommittee learned that at the present AWW of $498.42, the minimum WBA ($65) replaces 13 percent of the AWW and the maximum WBA ($208) replaces 41.7 percent.

At the subcommittee's December 1995 meeting, a coalition of many of Virginia's employer associations (including the Retail Merchants Association, National Federation of Independent Business, Coal Association, Chamber of Commerce, Manufacturers Association, and General Contractors Association) presented a proposal to adjust benefit levels, increasing the minimum WBA to $70 and the maximum WBA to $224.

According to the VEC, raising the minimum WBA to $70 (14 percent of the 1995 AWW) would "save" the trust fund $2 million per year because the earnings requirement would increase (from $3,250 to $3,500 in two quarters of base period) and fewer claimants would become eligible for benefits. Conversely, increasing the maximum WBA to $224 (45 percent of the 1995 AWW) would "cost" the trust fund $11 million per year. Further VEC analysis of the proposal revealed a minimal negative impact on the solvency of the trust fund.

V. RECOMMENDATIONS

Recognizing favorable economic conditions and an interest in increasing benefit levels for unemployed Virginians, the joint subcommittee recommended increases in the minimum and maximum weekly benefit amounts from $65 to $70 and $208 to $224, respectively. The panel's legislative recommendation implementing the increases is attached as Appendix D. In addition, the joint subcommittee recommended a resolution to continue its work, citing its desire to continue monitoring the performance of the Commonwealth's economy and its program of compensating unemployed Virginians. That legislation appears as Appendix E.

The joint subcommittee urges the implementation of its recommendations and thanks the contributors to its work, particularly the Commissioner and staff of the Virginia Employment Commission.

INTRODUCTION

According to second quarter 1995 data, the most recent available from the U.S. Department of Labor, Virginia ranks last in the percentage of its unemployed receiving unemployment insurance (UI) benefits, currently 17.6 percent. Nationally, 33.3 percent of the unemployed receive benefits. Rhode Island ranks number one, with 65.0 percent.

Because eligibility criteria for unemployment compensation are established pursuant to state law, there is significant variation among the state UI systems¹ in the percentage of unemployed persons qualifying for benefits. This is but one of the reasons for the contrast in the percentage of the unemployed population receiving benefits from one state to the next. A state's demographics and economic condition also play direct roles.

FACTORS INFLUENCING VIRGINIA'S RANKING

Wages and Length of Employment

- The level of income a claimant must earn in the base period to qualify for benefits in Virginia is $3,250, the second highest in the nation.

The base period consists of the first four of the last five completed calendar quarters before a claim was filed. Only Oklahoma, at $4,280, has a higher base period requirement. Hawaii, with a threshold of only $130, maintains the lowest such requirement.

- Virginia requires earnings be made in two quarters, but does not specify a minimum amount for any given quarter.

Thirty-four states require that the income be earned in at least two separate quarters.

Voluntarily Leaving Work

- Unlike most states, Virginia has a statutory requirement disqualifying those who quit work to accompany a spouse to another location.

All states have laws restricting eligibility in cases of voluntary departure from employment. To receive benefits, individuals must have compelling reasons to leave work, such that there was no other reasonable alternative.

Unlike most states, Virginia has a statutory requirement disqualifying those who quit work to accompany a spouse to another location. This requirement, which applies to all claimants, has a particularly significant impact in Virginia with its large, transient military population. (Virginia, at 5.0 percent, ranks third among all states in military personnel as a percentage of nonagricultural employment.)

Work Search Requirements

- Continuing eligibility criteria also limit payment of claims.

Virginia requires claimants to report their job search efforts by providing a list of prospective employers contacted. While all states require that claimants be available for possible employment, this stricter requirement prohibits payment on some claims and may act as a disincentive to file for benefits.

Changing Industry Mix

- Employment in Virginia has continued to shift from manufacturing to services and retail trade, a trend reflecting a lower rate of qualified claims.

From 1980 to 1994 manufacturing's share of nonagricultural employment in Virginia fell from 19.2 percent to 13.5 percent. The national manufacturing average in 1994 was 15.9 percent; southeastern states varied from 2.0 percent in the District of Columbia to 25.6 percent in North Carolina. Manufacturing workers traditionally enjoy stable employment and high wages, and have been found much more likely than other laid-off workers to file for unemployment benefits².

Employment in retail trade in Virginia has increased from 16.0 percent to 18.0 percent between 1980 and 1994, while employment in service industries increased from 18.9 percent to 27.6 percent. Retail trade and some service workers are more likely to be transitory and to receive lower pay, making them less likely to qualify.

Unemployment Rate

- For second quarter 1995, the most recent period for which comparative data is available, Virginia had the fourteenth lowest unemployment rate in the nation at 4.4 percent.

There is a significant positive correlation between the unemployment rate and payment of benefits.³ A reduced filing rate for unemployment benefits is expected in better job markets since those who anticipate getting jobs file for benefits less frequently.

Unemployment rates for southeastern states are listed in Table 1.

Federal Civilian And Military Employment

- Virginia's high percentage of military and federal workers tends to reduce the apparent percentage of total unemployed receiving benefits.

Virginia ranks fifth among all states in federal civilian employees as a percentage of nonagricultural employment (5.7 percent). These workers are counted in the unemployment rate but do not receive state UI benefits.

As noted, Virginia ranks third among all states in military personnel as a percentage of nonagricultural employment (5.0 percent). The national average is 1.1 percent. Military personnel, like federal employees, receive federal, rather than state, UI benefits.

²Walter Corson and Walter Nicholson, An Examination of Declining U.I. Claims During the 1980's, Unemployment Insurance Occasional Paper 88-3., Employment and Training Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, (1988), p.111.

³ Ibid., p.121.

Requalification For Benefits

- Requalification for benefits in Virginia entails becoming reemployed for at least 30 working days plus base period wage qualification.

Nebraska, which requires claimants to work an additional four weeks, is the only other state mandating days of employment to requalify for benefits. Other states have wage requirements.

CONCLUSION

Varying reasons explain the differences among states in the percentage of unemployed receiving UI benefits. Virginia's qualification requirements, disqualification standard for voluntarily quitting work, work search standards, industry mix, federal workforce, and requalification requirements are the major factors which influence its ranking among other states. The degree to which the percentage of benefit eligible unemployed may be adjusted by modifying factors within the control of the General Assembly cannot be reliably forecast.
