DJJ STATISTICAL SUMMARY

FY 2007 Statistical Summary Information Sheet (pullout)	207

A Word from the Director...

The Virginia Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) published the first Data Resource Guide in 2001. It was the first comprehensive summary of data relating to juveniles who enter into our justice system. For the first time, both researchers and the public had easy access to information detailing the numbers and types of young people to whom we provide services, their demographics, the many family and delinquency matters that come before the Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Courts, the array of programs and services provided, as well as statistics for each locality in the Commonwealth.

In addition to facts, this Guide provides a narrative overview of Virginia's juvenile justice system and includes information that allows us to assess the extent to which the tax dollars we spend make a difference in the safety and quality of life for our citizens. You will find spending summaries, recidivism rates, and an explanation of how we determine the amount of time that a juvenile will spend in our centers if he or she is committed by a judge to our care. This document, as well as other and more detailed information, can also be found on our website (www.djj.virginia.gov).

Barry R. Green

While we are always accountable for the programs we operate, this year presented special challenges due to slowing revenue growth. In order to maintain and improve those programs that work, and identify others that are not producing desired results, we need to be able to define and measure the impacts that these services have on the safety of our communities. Data allows us to do that. The strategic plan that this agency developed last year clearly defines what outcomes are expected of us, and the information included in this Guide, as well as more detailed data that we capture, allows us to know, and to inform the public, whether or not we are achieving what our agency was charged and created to do.

While this publication consists primarily of numbers, we know that our job is to improve the lives of people – the young people entrusted to our care and supervision, as well as the residents of and visitors to Virginia. But it takes information and analysis to know what needs we have to address and, in the end, to know whether or not we are meeting those needs.

DJJ staff are committed professionals who share a desire to make Virginia the best place to live and work. We have many partners, which include other state and local agencies who serve youth as well as non-profit, faith-based, and volunteer groups, who share the same goals. To the extent that we succeed; we do it together.

I would like to acknowledge and thank the Department of Criminal Justice Services and our federal partners at the Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention for grant funding that allowed us to publish this Guide. I also want to thank the staff of our Research and Evaluation Section whose hard work made this report possible and whose talents enable those of us who are not methodologists to understand what the numbers really mean.

I hope that you will take a moment to complete the enclosed survey form so that we can better serve your needs in the future. Thank you for taking the time to learn more about the young people of this great Commonwealth.

Sincerely,

Terms and Concepts

Adjudicatory Hearing: a hearing on merits where innocence or guilt is determined. Witnesses and testimony are presented, similar to a trial.

Behavioral Services Unit (BSU): located in the juvenile correctional centers (JCCs) and at the Reception and Diagnostic Center (RDC). In addition to traditional psychological evaluations and individual and group therapy, BSU currently operates Sex Offender Treatment programs in several JCCs and oversees substance abuse treatment services. Staff consists of psychologists, clinical social workers, and clerical support.

Blended Sentence: the sentencing option of combining a juvenile disposition with an adult sentence for a juvenile convicted as an adult in Circuit Court. For a juvenile convicted of a violent juvenile felony in Circuit Court, COV §16.1-272 allows the Circuit Court to impose an adult sentence and allows a portion of that sentence to be served in a JCC in accordance with COV §16.1-285.1. COV §16.1-272 also provides that the adult sentence can be suspended pending successful completion of the juvenile disposition.

Certification: a process for transferring a juvenile 14 years of age or older to be tried as an adult in Circuit Court when there is probable cause that the juvenile committed a violent juvenile felony. There are two types of certification: (1) If a juvenile is accused of certain serious felonies, the case will be automatically certified to the Circuit Court if the Juvenile and Domestic Relations judge finds probable cause that the act was committed; and (2) If a juvenile is accused of other serious felonies, the case is certified to the Circuit Court if the Commonwealth's Attorney files a motion for a preliminary hearing on probable cause, and the judge finds probable cause. Any juvenile convicted in Circuit Court after certification will be treated as an adult in all future criminal cases.

CHINS: a Child in Need of Services is a child whose behavior, conduct, or condition presents or results in a serious threat to the well-being and physical safety of that child. A CHINS may also include a child under the age of 14 who presents a serious threat to the well-being and physical safety of another person. To meet the definition of CHINS, there must be a clear and substantial danger to the life or health of the child or another person.

CHINSup: a Child in Need of Supervision is one who is habitually and without justification absent from school despite opportunity and reasonable efforts to keep him or her in school. CHINSup may also refer to a child who habitually runs away from his or her family or lawful custodian, or who escapes from a residential care court placement.

Commitment: an order by a judge at the dispositional hearing that transfers a delinquent juvenile's legal custody to the Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ). To be eligible for commitment, a juvenile must be 11 years of age or older and adjudicated delinquent or convicted of a felony offense, a Class 1 misdemeanor and a prior felony, or four Class 1 misdemeanors. Depending on the circumstances, the court may commit the juvenile for a determinate or an indeterminate period of time. (See COV §16.1-278.8.)

Commitment versus Admission: a commitment is a court action placing a juvenile in the custody of DJJ for placement in a JCC or a private secure facility. An admission occurs when a juvenile physically arrives at a facility and is officially entered into the facility's rolls. An admission to RDC may occur days or weeks after the juvenile is committed to DJJ (during which time he or she is in secure detention). A single admission could be the result of multiple commitments to DJJ (for example, a juvenile may be committed to DJJ by more than one District Court prior to admission to RDC). For these reasons, the number of commitments to DJJ in a fiscal year will be slightly different from the number of admissions to RDC.

Court Service Unit (CSU): the Department's major provider of services (intake, investigations and reports, probation, parole, counseling, and other related services) within the community.

Code of Virginia (COV): legal code of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Detention: placement in a secure facility resulting in a loss of physical freedom.

Detention Assessment Instrument (DAI): detention screening tool used by CSU intake officers to guide detention decisions using objective criteria. (A copy of the DAI is included in Appendix K.)

Detention Hearing: judicial hearing held within 72 hours of initial custody that determines a youth's proper detention status while awaiting an adjudicatory hearing. The court may subpoena witnesses to assist in determining probable cause. (See COV §16.1-250.)

Detention Home: temporary secure holding facility for serious juvenile offenders awaiting an adjudicatory hearing or placement in a community program. Detention homes may incarcerate juveniles both prior to trial and as a dispositional alternative. A juvenile can be held for no longer than 21 days prior to the adjudicatory hearing without good cause. A juvenile can be held no longer than 30 days following the adjudicatory hearing pending the dispositional hearing. A juvenile can be incarcerated in a post-dispositional program for either up to 30 days or up to 6 months.

Detention Placements versus Detention Admissions: a detention placement is based on a decision made by an intake officer or judge to detain a juvenile. A detention admission is when a juvenile enters a facility either through direct placement or through transfer. Therefore, during one detention placement, a juvenile may have several detention admissions.

Determinate Commitment: ruling by a judge, pursuant to COV §16.1-285.1, who retains jurisdiction over the commitment time of a juvenile who committed a serious offense. The judge specifies an exact time period for commitment not to exceed the juvenile's 21st birthday. The juvenile comes under judicial review after a two-year period. If not released, the youth then has an annual hearing before the judge who made the initial commitment.

Dispositional Hearing: a hearing in a juvenile case (similar to a sentencing hearing in a criminal court) that determines the proper path for treatment services and sanctions.

Diversion: a juvenile offender is diverted out of the official court process, and the case is handled informally. (See COV §16.1-260.)

Domestic Relations: all references to this term include both domestic relations as well as child welfare.

Fiscal Year: time period measured for this report as FY 2007 (July 1, 2006, through June 30, 2007.)

Group Home: a program that provides a residential placement in a non-secure environment. Services may include: residential care; group, family, and individual counseling; assessment and anger management; life skills; recreation; educational support; etc. Placements can be pre- or post-dispositional.

Halfway House: transitional residential placement for juveniles on parole that provides services such as independent living skills, employment skills, and work experience.

Indeterminate Commitment: a ruling by a judge giving the Director of DJJ the authority to determine how long the juvenile will remain committed. Parameters for this commitment include the juvenile's 21st birthday, a 36-month statutory maximum length of stay (LOS) for all offenses except murder or manslaughter (COV §16.1-285), and DJJ's policy.

Informal Diversion: at the time that a complaint is made to an intake officer, the officer must determine whether to act upon the complaint informally or to initiate formal court action. For lesser offenses, the officer may elect informal diversion. With informal diversion, the intake officer's powers are commensurate with those that would be used by the judge. The intake officer must develop a diversion plan that exhausts all community resources including restitution and community service. The juvenile and his or her parents must agree to this plan. Informal supervision is limited to 90 days. (See COV §16.1-260.)

Intake Case: an occurrence of a juvenile being brought before a CSU for one or more alleged violations of law. This process of initial acceptance and screening is used to determine appropriateness of release or referral to formal action via petition. An intake officer at the CSU decides which path the case will follow. One case can involve multiple intake complaints. May be referred to simply as an "intake."

Intake Complaint: the specific violation of law that a juvenile is alleged to have committed.

Juvenile Correctional Center (JCC): a facility for juveniles committed to state care where residents receive 24-hour supervision, education, treatment services, recreational services, and a variety of special programs.

Length of Stay (LOS) Guidelines: a framework established by the Board of Juvenile Justice, as mandated by law, to determine how long indeterminately committed juveniles will remain in the custody of DJJ. Factors that affect a resident's LOS include the seriousness of the offense, the juvenile's history of offense behavior, the juvenile's behavior while in direct care, and the juvenile's progress toward completing treatment goals. (See Appendix E.)

Parole: continued supervision and monitoring of an individual after release from commitment in a JCC or a privately contracted facility.

Petition: a document filed with the court by the intake officer alleging that a juvenile is delinquent, a CHINS, CHINSup, or for domestic purposes and asking that the court assume jurisdiction over the juvenile.

Post-disposition (Post-D): the period of time between the final disposition and final release from supervision.

Post-dispositional Detention: the juvenile court's dispositional option of placing a juvenile in a secure local detention facility for up to 30 days or six months. To be eligible for post-dispositional detention, a juvenile must be 14 years of age or older and found to have committed an offense punishable by confinement in a state or local correctional facility as defined in COV §53.1-1. Offenses confineable in a local or state correctional facility include felonies and Class 1 and Class 2 misdemeanors. In addition, COV §§16.1-284.1, 16.1-291, and 16.1-292 provide additional statutory criteria that need to be satisfied prior to placement.

Post-dispositional Detention with Programs versus Post-dispositional Detention without Programs: post-dispositional detention with programs involves structured programs of treatment and services given to youth who have been sentenced by a judge. Programs are typically designed for 180 days and are intended to maintain and/or build community ties. Post-dispositional detention without programs involves the sentencing of a juvenile by a judge to a detention facility for short periods of time without full services being provided. (See COV §16.1-284.1.)

Pre-disposition (Pre-D): the period of time from when charges are filed until the court makes a final disposition.

Pre-disposition Report: document prepared by a probation officer in preparation for a dispositional hearing that considers the court history of the juvenile, physical or mental examinations, the juvenile's family, and previous contact with other agencies. It assists the court in selecting the most appropriate dispositional sanctions and services.

Pre-dispositional Detention: the juvenile court's dispositional option of placing a juvenile in a secure local detention facility for up to 30 days or for up to six months. To be eligible for post-dispositional detention, a juvenile must be 14 years of age or older and found to have committed an offense punishable by confinement in a state or local correctional facility as defined in COV §53.1-1. Offenses confineable in a local or state correctional facility include felonies and Class 1 and Class 2 misdemeanors. In addition, COV §16.1-284.1, §16.1-291, and §16.1-292 provide additional statutory criteria that need to be satisfied prior to placement.

Private Provider: company or non-state entity that is under contract with DJJ to provide direct-care residential beds and treatment services for committed youth.

Probation: alternative to commitment that requires a specified level of supervision for juveniles who remain in the community.

REACH: behavior modification program instituted in the JCCs that involves concepts of responsibility, empowerment, achievement, changes, and hope.

Reception and Diagnostic Center (RDC): location to which committed juveniles are initially sent after the dispositional hearing and preceding placement in a JCC.

Recidivism: as defined by DJJ, a recidivist is a person who is found by a court to have committed, after being (a) placed on probation or (b) released from confinement, a delinquent or criminal act other than violation of probation or parole. (See also Reoffending.)

Region: in order to better manage the use of community resources statewide, DJJ divides Virginia into three geographical Regions: Region I (Western), Region II (Northern), and Region III (Eastern). (See page 19 for a description of the three Regions.)

Reoffending (Measures of): three measures used in this document are: (1) Rearrest- a petition filed at intake for a new delinquent complaint or an adult arrest for a new criminal offense; (2) Reconviction- a guilty adjudication for a delinquent or criminal offense, which is the only measure of reoffending that meets DJJ's definition of recidivism; (3) Reincarceration- any return to incarceration in a JCC or adult facility after having been previously released from a JCC.

Resident: a juvenile or an adult who is committed to DJJ pursuant to COV §§ 16.1-278.8A 14 or 17 and residing in a juvenile residential facility or a secure facility defined in COV § 16.1-228 operated or contracted for by DJJ.

Risk Assessment Instrument: tool used to identify juveniles at risk for reoffending. (See Appendix H.)

Serious Juvenile Offender: a resident who was committed to DJJ and given a determinate commitment as a serious offender under COV §16.1-285.1.

Shelter Care: detainment option that provides non-secure detention. Juvenile is placed in a group home or under foster care with no form of physical imprisonment. (See COV §16.1-248.1.)

Status Offense: an act prohibited by law that would not be an offense if committed by an adult. (See also CHINS/CHINSup.)

Temporary Detention: transfer to a mental health facility from a JCC. This decision is made by a judge following a recommendation from the BSU that treatment for an acute mental health condition is needed. (See Art. 16 of Ch. 11 of Title 16.1 – Psychiatric Inpatient Treatment of Minors Act.)

Transfer: a means of moving a case from Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court to Circuit Court. Applicable when a juvenile 14 years or older is accused of a felony other than those warranting certification or if the Commonwealth's Attorney decides not to seek certification to Circuit Court and files papers requesting a transfer. In order to transfer a case to the Circuit Court, a transfer hearing must be held during which a judge must determine that the act would be a felony if committed by an adult and must also examine issues of competency and the juvenile's history. Any juvenile convicted in Circuit Court after transfer will be treated as an adult in all future criminal cases.

Violent Juvenile Felony: any of the delinquent acts enumerated in subsection B or C of COV §16.1-269.1 when committed by a juvenile 14 years of age or older. The offenses generally fall into the categories of murder, felonious injury by mob, abduction, malicious wounding, malicious wounding of a law-enforcement officer, felonious poisoning, adulteration of products, robbery, carjacking, rape, forcible sodomy, or sexual object penetration. (See COV §16.1-228 for definition.)

Waiver: a request initiated by the juvenile, 14 years or older (and a guardian), prior to the adjudicatory hearing that seeks to waive the jurisdiction of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court and have the case transferred to the Circuit Court. (Pursuant to COV §16.1-270.)

Weekender: a juvenile sentenced by a judge to serve a certain number of days in detention on weekends. The juvenile remains in school during the week and, typically, enters the detention home Friday after school and remains until Sunday.

A Note to Readers

This report uses a number of terms and concepts that may be unfamiliar to the reader or may be defined specifically for DJJ. It is strongly recommended that the reader review the information included in the Terms and Concepts section above, as well as the information included in Appendices D, E, and I. A review of this information should assist the reader in understanding the data reported in this Data Resource Guide.

Also, readers should note that data reported for prior years in previous editions of this publication may be slightly different from data reported this year. These slight discrepancies are due to data cleaning and information updates that occur throughout the year.

An Overview of the Virginia Department of Juvenile Justice

Spotsylvania County Courthouse (Juvenile and Domestic Relations and General District)

Introduction to the Virginia Department of Juvenile Justice

To accomplish its Mission, the Virginia Department of Juvenile Justice (DJJ) provides an integrated approach to juvenile justice. It brings together current research and best practices to better understand and modify delinquent behavior; to meet the needs of offenders, victims, and communities; and to manage activities and resources in a responsible and proactive manner.

A BALANCED APPROACH

DJJ responds to juvenile offenders through a balanced approach that provides: (1) protection of public safety by control of a juvenile's liberty through secure confinement and/or community supervision; (2) a structured system of incentives and graduated sanctions in both institutional and community settings to ensure accountability for the juvenile's actions; and (3) a variety of services and programs that build skills and competencies (e.g., substance abuse treatment, support for academic and vocational education, anger management classes) to enable the juvenile to become a law-abiding member of the community upon release from DJJ's supervision.

INDIVIDUALIZED, RISK-BASED SERVICES

DJJ is committed to the principle that the greatest impact on juvenile offending can be realized by focusing resources on those juvenile offenders with the highest risk of reoffending and by addressing the individual criminogenic/risk factors that contribute to the initiation and continuation of delinquent behavior. Using a set of research and consensus-based instruments at different decision points within the juvenile justice system, DJJ classifies juveniles into different levels of risk. These points include the initial decision to detain, the assignment to various levels of community probation or parole supervision, and the classification of committed juveniles to guide appropriate placement within the institutional setting. In addition to the matching of the most intensive resources to those juveniles with the highest risk, DJJ recognizes that successful responses to juvenile crime require tailored, individualized responses to the needs of juveniles, families, and communities. The presence of specific risk factors are assessed and addressed in order to increase the likelihood of successful outcomes. Issues implicated in juvenile offending include gang involvement, substance abuse, anger management, truancy, and other school-related problems. The application of appropriate social control and sanctioning strategies such as electronic monitoring, urine drug testing, and various levels of supervision are also matched to the juvenile's individualized circumstances. Incentives such as early release from supervision, extended curfew, and tangible rewards such as recreational outings with volunteers are used to reward success and improve the chances of long-term behavior change.

DATA-DRIVEN MANAGEMENT

Over the past several years, DJJ has greatly enhanced its ability to effectively plan for and manage juveniles, programs, services, and other resources. DJJ designed functional management information systems and used the data generated and reported from these systems to better understand the offender population, activities in relation to those offenders, and

MISSION OF THE VIRGINIA DEPARTMENT OF JUVENILE JUSTICE

To protect the public through a balanced approach of accountability and comprehensive services that prevent and reduce delinquency through partnerships with families, schools, communities, law enforcement, and others, while providing opportunities for delinquent youth to become responsible and productive citizens.

methods to become more effective and efficient. The Juvenile Tracking System (JTS) is comprised of modules covering the full range of institutional and community-based activities. DJJ's philosophy is that sound management of public resources and adherence to its core Mission cannot be accomplished without input provided from comprehensive data-based practices.

COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

While DJJ has the primary responsibility for many aspects of Virginia's juvenile justice system, collaborative partnerships with state and local agencies and programs, as well as with private sector service providers, are the cornerstone of the DJJ approach. Local governments operate a network of secure detention facilities and an array of services addressing each aspect of the balanced approach. Within each community DJJ works with law enforcement, behavioral health providers, schools, social services, and other agencies. Securing services from private providers assists DJJ in meeting the needs of juvenile offenders, their families, and communities. At the state level, DJJ works with other executive, legislative, and judicial branch agencies in a similar manner.

Through the application of the integrated approach to juvenile justice, DJJ continues to make a difference in the lives of citizens and communities across the Commonwealth. Through responsible resource management, performance accountability, and sound intervention strategies, DJJ strives to improve and meet the changing demands of juvenile justice practice.

Virginia's Juvenile Justice System

A FLOWCHART OF A JUVENILE'S PROGRESSION THROUGH THE SYSTEM

STEPS IN THE JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM

1. The juvenile enters the system when an offense is committed and reported by a parent, citizen, agency complaint, or the police.
2. If the juvenile entered the system through police contact, a decision is made to either counsel and release the youth back to the community or to arrest. If a parent, citizen, or agency made the complaint, the complaint goes to intake.
3. An intake officer at the court service unit makes the decision whether to take informal action such as crisis-shelter care, detention outreach, or counseling; to take no action; or to file a petition. In some cases, a police officer or the original complainant will appeal to the magistrate if they disagree with the intake officer's decision. The magistrate must certify the charge, and the matter is returned to intake to file a petition.
4. Once a petition has been filed, an intake officer decides if the juvenile should be detained or released to his or her parents/guardians. The decision is based on the juvenile's risk to self, community, or flight and is guided by completion of the Detention Assessment Instrument.
5. If the decision is made to detain the juvenile, a detention hearing is held within 72 hours in the Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court to determine the need for further detention and examine the merits of the charges.
6. A preliminary hearing is held to ensure that the case has enough merit to carry it to trial. Issues of competency, insanity, subpoenas, and witnesses are addressed also. If no probable cause exists, the case is dismissed. If cause is determined, the case moves to the adjudicatory hearing. Also during this phase, issues of transfers and waivers are addressed by the court. If certification is ordered or a direct indictment issued, the case goes to the Circuit Court (see sections 12-13).
7. Innocence or guilt is determined at the adjudicatory hearing. Witnesses and testimony are presented similar to an adult trial. If found not guilty, the case is dismissed. If found guilty, a dispositional hearing is held.
8. At the dispositional hearing, the pre-disposition report (social history) is used to assist in selecting appropriate sanctions and services. The court decides if the juvenile will be committed to DJJ or face community sanctions such as warnings, restitutions, or fines. A conditional disposition may be imposed such as probation, which includes participation in CSU programs, referral to local services or facilities, to other agencies, to private placement, or to post-dispositional detention. Once the requirements have been met, the juvenile is released by the court.
9. If committed to DJJ, the juvenile must undergo psychological, educational, social, and medical evaluations conducted at RDC.
10. From RDC, the juvenile may go to a privately operated residential facility or a juvenile correctional center (JCC). At the JCC, a committed juvenile receives 24-hour supervision, education, treatment services, recreational services, and a variety of special programs.
11. After completion of the commitment period, a juvenile may be placed on parole or directly released. During parole, the juvenile transitions to the community through agency program efforts and is afforded local services. Some juveniles may need 24-hour residential care and treatment services provided by a halfway house. Upon completion of parole or entry into the adult criminal justice system, the youth is discharged from the juvenile system.
12. A case may be sent into the appeals process following the dispositional hearing. After presentation to the Circuit Court, the case is reconsidered and the issue of guilt is examined. If the juvenile is found not guilty, the case is dismissed. If found guilty, the Circuit Court judge administers an appropriate juvenile disposition.
13. If the Circuit Court received the case through a direct indictment, a trial will take place. If found not guilty, the case is dismissed. If found guilty, the judge will decide whether to render a juvenile disposition or an adult sentence.

DJJ Operating Expenditures, FY 2007

GENERAL FUND EXPENDITURES $207.8 MILLION

NON-GENERAL FUND EXPENDITURES $ 8.4 MILLION

TOTAL FY 2007 EXPENDITURES $216.2 MILLION

During the fiscal year ending June 30, 2007, the Department expended a total of $216.2 million. Of this amount, 24% was in transfer payments to localities for VJCCCA, local detention, and locally run court service units.

The chart below reflects the programs for which these funds were expended.

DJJ Training Unit

The DJJ Training Unit is responsible for providing or facilitating training for the 3,100+ employees and affiliates of the Department. The unit's mission is to provide quality training that addresses specific job functions and duties, matches the experience level of the participants, responds to current topics and trends, and assists individuals in meeting their annual training requirements. Organized as a centralized unit, training is delivered in each of the three geographical regions, as well as in Richmond where the main training facility, Cedar Lodge, is located. On average, each biannual calendar offers 300 training dates in 62 topical areas. The unit supports DJJ's mission by implementing, supporting, or facilitating programs for each division.

Unit Composition: Training Manager: Debbie Jackson
 Registrar: Joyce Biringer Administrative Assistant: Althea Davis
 Training Staff: Robin Barwick, Stephen Cotton, Yvonne Crenshaw, Andy Dickerson, Phil Edris, Learna Harris, Brenda Jackson, Mike Morgan, Guillermo Novo, Kenneth Robinson, Dennis Sullivan, and Ryan West

On-going Employee Development Programs: New Employee Orientation • Basic Skills for New Juvenile Correctional Officers (JCOs) – 160 hours • Basic Skills for New Probation Officers – 40 hours • Basic Skills for New Institutional Counselors – 40 hours • Annual In-Service for JCOs – 40 hours • Annual In-Service for Sergeants and Lieutenants – 16-24 hours, 16 sessions a year • Sex Offender Program Training – 21 hours • Handle with Care Instructor Certification – 21 hours (3 days) • Orientation for Non-Security JCC Employees – 130 hours • Annual Re-certification Programs: suicide prevention, verbal & physical intervention skills, American Red Cross First Aid/CPR • Supervisor Toolkit – 80 hours

Special Programs/Initiatives: Safety and Wellness • Computer Training • Career Management and Personal Development • Field Training Officers

Statewide Initiatives:

LMS – The DJJ Knowledge Center, DJJ's new Learning Management System (LMS), is in the final stages of preparation for use by employees and affiliated agencies. This integrated system manages training through a variety of avenues. It allows the Training Center to manage classes, instructors, locations, and training records. It provides a streamlined system of measuring performance outcomes and the applicability of classes/resource materials. It allows managers, supervisors, and the Certification Unit to access records and reports to insure compliance with regulations, policies, and procedures. All employees will benefit from this system with the following options available: online registration; directions to training locations; online classes and immediate course credit; immediate online access to student transcripts; online research using juvenile and criminal justice links; access to policies, procedures, regulations, resource material, and "Frequently Asked Questions;" survey assessments; and access to a Criminal Justice Glossary.

MVP – The Managing Virginia Program (MVP) is a state-wide initiative to standardize training for the Commonwealth's managers and supervisors. DJJ is one of 41 agencies involved in establishing management competencies/criteria and developing a range of training opportunities for managers and supervisors. In response to the pending mandate from the Commonwealth, DJJ has designed a Tool Kit for Supervisors Program to meet core competencies. All newly hired and promoted supervisors have the opportunity to attend this 10-day course within the first 90 days of hire/promotion.

Introduction to Community Programs

The Division of Community Programs is responsible for providing a continuum of community-based services to juvenile offenders. The following briefly describes these services:

COURT SERVICE UNIT FUNCTIONS

Juvenile Intake

Intake services are provided 24 hours a day at each of the 35 court service units (CSUs) across the state. The intake officer on duty, or CSU staff on call after business hours, has the authority to receive, review, and process complaints. This may involve diversion and referral to other community resources for appropriate juveniles charged with less serious offenses.

Based on the information gathered, a determination is made whether or not a petition should be filed with the Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court and, if so, whether or not the juvenile should be released to a parent or another responsible adult, placed in a detention alternative, or detained pending a court hearing. Decisions by DJJ intake officers concerning detention are guided by the completion of the Detention Assessment Instrument (DAI). Implemented in November 2002, the DAI guides detention decisions using standard criteria. An evaluation of the initial implementation of this instrument was completed in 2004 and a validation study was completed in 2006. (See Appendix K for a copy of the instrument.)

Investigations and Reports

Social histories make up the majority of the reports completed by CSU personnel. These court-ordered investigations describe the social adjustment and circumstances of youth before the court or receiving services. A risk assessment instrument is completed at the same time as the social history, classifying the juveniles according to their relative risk of reoffending. (See Appendix H for a copy of this instrument.) The information in the social history and risk assessment provides the basis for CSU personnel to develop appropriate services for the juvenile and the family, determine the level of supervision needed based on risk classification, and make recommendations to the court regarding the most appropriate disposition for the case.

Other reports and investigations completed by CSU personnel may include substance abuse evaluations, case summaries to the Family Assessment and Planning Teams, commitment packets for the Reception and Diagnostic Center, interstate compact reports, transfer reports, and ongoing case documentation.

Domestic Relations

In addition to handling delinquency and Child in Need of Service/Supervision complaints, CSUs provide intake services for domestic relations complaints. These complaints include non-support, family abuse, adjudication of custody (permanent and temporary), abuse and neglect, termination of parental rights, visitation rights, paternity, and emancipation. In some CSUs, services such as treatment referral, supervision, and counseling are provided in adult cases of domestic violence.

Custody Investigations

Although the majority of custody investigations for the court are performed by the local Department of Social Services, some CSUs perform investigations to provide recommendations to the court on parental custody and visitation based on the best interests of the child and defined criteria in the COV. The investigation includes an extensive review of the home environment and background of the child's parents or caretakers, including any individuals living in the home, and the role and relationship of the parents and caretakers of the child.

Probation

The most frequently used disposition for those juveniles adjudicated guilty is probation supervision. Juvenile probation in Virginia strives to achieve a balanced approach, focusing on the principles of community protection (public safety), accountability, and competency development.

Parole Services

Upon release from state commitment, offenders are placed on parole supervision. With planning initiated when a juvenile is committed to DJJ, parole supervision is designed to assist in the successful transition back to the community. Parole services build on the programs that the juvenile received during the period of secure confinement in the JCCs. Parole supervision focuses upon the balanced approach. Protection of public safety is emphasized through a level system of supervision based on the juvenile's assessed risk of reoffending and adjustment to rules and expectations. The period of parole varies according to the juvenile's needs, level of risk, offense history, and adjustment. Supervision may last until the juvenile's 21st birthday.

Parole officers are assigned to offenders to provide case management services, facilitate appropriate transitional services, and monitor adjustment to the community. Juveniles may receive family and individual counseling, referral to other community services, vocational services, or specialized educational services. These services are provided statewide by a network of approved vendors from which the local CSUs purchase programs and services for paroled juveniles and their families.

INTERSTATE COMPACT ON JUVENILES (ICJ)

The ICJ unit provides for the cooperative supervision of probationers and parolees moving from state to state and the return of runaways, absconders, and escapees. All 50 states, the District of Columbia, the Virgin Islands, and Guam are participants of the Compact. The ICJ mandates each state to provide services per the Compact requirements. Probation and parole services for ICJ cases are to be provided in the same manner and at the same level as provided to residents of that state.

VIRGINIA JUVENILE COMMUNITY CRIME CONTROL ACT (VJCCCA)

Funding is provided to local governments through the VJCCCA to design and implement services to meet the needs of juveniles before the court in their localities.

With a plan approved by the Board of Juvenile Justice, localities may purchase or develop and operate programs and services that are pre- or post-dispositional, diversionary, residential, or non-residential.

COMPREHENSIVE SERVICES ACT (CSA)

Developed to help at-risk youth and families, the CSA is a child-centered, community-based, collaborative system of services and funding. CSUs may refer juveniles to local, interdisciplinary Family Assessment and Planning Teams (FAPT). Representatives from DJJ, by law, are members of the local FAPT. When local funding is available, the FAPT may assess a youth's strengths and needs in order to develop and implement a service plan to meet those needs.

DETENTION

Most secure detention facilities are operated by local governments or multi-jurisdictional commissions. DJJ provides partial funding for construction and operations and serves as the regulatory agency for these facilities. These physically secure residential programs provide temporary care for delinquents and alleged delinquents who require secure custody pending a court appearance. Educational instruction (including remedial services) is mandatory within 24 hours of any youth being detained and is provided by the locality in which the detention facility is located (funded by the Department of Education). Program components include medical and mental health screening, recreational and religious activities, and parental or guardian visitation.

Many detention programs provide secure custody and services for post-dispositional delinquents as an alternative to state commitment as an option for judges pursuant to COV §16.1-284.1. In a post-dispositional "program," secure beds are designated for juveniles for up to 180 days. In these post-dispositional programs, treatment services are coordinated by the detention facility, the CSU, local mental health and social service agencies, and the juvenile's family. These services are tailored to meet the specific needs of that juvenile.

Crater Juvenile Detention Home

Examples of facility-based and community-based services for post-dispositional youth include anger management, substance abuse education and treatment, life skills, vocational education, community service, restitution, and victim empathy. During FY 2007, 18 facilities had post-dispositional programs: Blue Ridge, Chesapeake, Chesterfield, Fairfax, James River, Loudoun, Lynchburg, Merrimac, New River Valley, Newport News, Norfolk, Northern Virginia, Northwestern, Prince William, Rappahannock, Roanoke, W.W. Moore, and Virginia Beach. Out of 1,456 licensed secure detention beds in FY 2007, 228 beds were dedicated to post-dispositional programs. Recidivism rates for post-dispositional programs are provided in the Reoffense Rates section.

HALFWAY HOUSES

The Department operates three halfway houses and contracts for one privately-operated independent living program. These facilities are designed to provide transitional skills to juveniles released from the JCCs.

Each halfway house program is designed to take advantage of the unique resources available in its community to meet the needs of the residents. Upon completion of the program, the resident will have gained additional skills to promote a continued positive adjustment and reduce the risk of recidivism. Recidivism rates are provided in the Reoffense Rates section.

Virginia Juvenile Community Crime Control Act (VJCCCA)

A legislative study on the lack of alternatives to detention and substantial revisions to the juvenile code led the 1995 Virginia General Assembly to pass the Virginia Juvenile Community Crime Control Act (VJCCCA) “to establish a community-based system of progressive intensive sanctions and services that correspond to the severity of offense and treatment needs” (COV §16.1-309.2). The purpose of the VJCCCA is “to deter crime by providing immediate, effective punishment that emphasizes accountability of the juvenile offender for his actions as well as reduces the pattern of repeat offending” (COV §16.1-309.2).

Since January 1996, funding has been allocated to each local governing body (an independent city or county) through a formula based on factors including the number and types of arrests in a locality and the average daily cost for serving a child. In order to maintain their commitment to youth, participating localities must maintain the same level of contribution to these programs that they made in 1995.

LOCALITIES DEVELOP PLANS

To participate in VJCCCA, each jurisdiction must develop a plan for how it will use the funding and have that plan approved by the Board of Juvenile Justice. Some localities have combined programs and funding across jurisdictions. Communities are given substantial autonomy and flexibility to address local juvenile crime patterns. Development of the plan requires consultation with judges, CSU directors, and Comprehensive Services Act Community Policy and Management Teams (an interagency body that manages the expenditure of state funding to serve children and families). The local governing body designates who will be responsible for managing the plan. In over one-half of the localities, this responsibility has been delegated to the CSU.

All funding must be used to serve “juveniles before intake on complaints or the court on petitions alleging that the juvenile is a child in need of services, child in need of supervision or delinquent” (COV §16.1-309.2). Local governing bodies may provide services directly or purchase them from other public or private agencies. No specific types of programs or services are required, although a menu of permissible activities is in place. The intent is for programs and services to be developed to fit the needs of each locality.

PROGRAMS INCLUDED

In FY 2007, VJCCCA served over 12,000 youth through residential and non-residential programs and services including less secure detention; group homes; family-oriented group homes; crisis intervention and shelter care; outreach detention and electronic monitoring; intensive supervision; substance abuse assessment and treatment; sex offender assessment and treatment; mental health assessments; individual, group, and family counseling; home-based, in-home, or family preservation services; mentoring; community service; restitution/restorative justice; after-school or extended day services; academic improvement; truancy programs; employment/vocational programs; shoplifting programs; law-related education; anger management; parenting skills; life skills; recreation and wilderness programs; and individually purchased services to meet specific needs.

AVERAGE DAILY POPULATION VS CAPACITY, FY 2005-2011

In FY 2002, the Department of Juvenile Justice, in conjunction with the Governor's Inmate Population Forecast Committee, began producing a projection of local juvenile detention homes' average daily population. The forecast accounts for the population decline from FY 2006 to FY 2007 and projects a continued decrease over the next few years. The most recent forecast predicts that the average population in detention homes will decrease 1% (13 juveniles) between FY 2007 and FY 2008. The forecast beyond FY 2007 projects the detention home population will decrease 5% between FY 2007 and FY 2011.

Halfway Houses

In FY 2007, DJJ operated three state-run halfway houses to meet the transitional needs of juveniles released from juvenile correctional centers. DJJ operated Hampton Place located in Norfolk, Abraxas House in Staunton, and Discovery House in Roanoke. The Department also oversees the Apartment Living Program, a 10 bed contract for halfway house placements with the Tidewater Regional Group Home Commission located in Virginia Beach.

The purpose of a halfway house is to provide transitional living for juveniles who are unable to return home or whose service needs make this type of placement beneficial. Residents learn independent living skills and are required to enroll in school, work towards a GED, and/or be gainfully employed. Residents are placed on parole supervision during their stay at the halfway house. Supportive services such as substance abuse relapse services and sex offender relapse treatment are provided by public or private service providers with the use of transitional service funds. Upon completion of residence at a halfway house, juveniles may return to their families or live independently.

Commitment to the State

Juveniles participating in the Inter/Intramural Recreation & Extracurricular Activities Program (IREAP) introduced in the JCCs as part of the REACH Program in 2007

Introduction to Institutional Programs

The Division of Institutional Services has direct responsibility for juvenile offenders who have been committed to the state, ensuring that they receive treatment and educational services while in a safe and secure setting. It operates the Reception and Diagnostic Center (RDC), juvenile correctional centers (JCCs), community placement programs (CPPs), and also contracts with private providers to house certain juveniles.

The six JCCs and RDC had a combined operating capacity of 1,044 in FY 2007. The Behavioral Services Unit, Central Infirmary, Youth Industries, Bon Air Complex Maintenance, Health Services Unit, and Food Services Unit provide support to the correctional centers. The Department of Correctional Education (DCE) also helps by meeting educational needs of the committed juveniles. Through contractual agreements with providers, DJJ also offers supplemental programs and services in environments designed to more intensely deliver services. DJJ has placed juveniles into CPPs at both the Shenandoah Valley Juvenile Detention Home and Chesapeake Juvenile Services since April and December 2004, respectively. Both programs, with adjustments in service delivery during the course of operation, offer community reintegration and specialized services in a secure residential setting.

Based on a FY 2005 General Assembly mandate, DJJ developed a utilization plan to maximize the use of its resources; efforts to implement recommendations from the plan continued throughout FY 2007. This includes ongoing population management through movement of juveniles as mandated by the plan and to meet the DJJ's needs. As a result of the initial review of all JCCs and their assets, Barrett JCC was closed as a correctional facility but has remained in operation as a temporary supplement to house DJJ's Training Unit and a few Central Office staff.

Also, DJJ has planned renovations and new capital construction, as funding is available, in an ongoing effort to improve facilities which requires close population management. When reviewing and adjusting the population for each facility, several factors are taken into consideration such as housing capacity, staffing levels, and programming initiatives. Revisions to capacities and shifts in the population are considered in order to keep the treatment needs of the juveniles in the forefront and were a natural result of the necessary closure to housing units on facility campuses. The utilization plan also called for a move toward therapeutic capacities within the facilities. To address this, DJJ began

The graph includes juveniles with a depressive disorder and excludes those with a diagnosis of Conduct Disorder (CD), Oppositional Defiant Disorder (ODD), and Substance Abuse/Dependence Disorder. This is a new methodology; therefore, data are not comparable to prior Data Resource Guides.

Over half (54%) of the juveniles admitted to the JCCs have a history of prescription psychotropic medication use. At admission, 65% of juveniles have a diagnosed mental health disorder (other than a DSM-IV diagnosis of CD, ODD, Substance Abuse/Dependence Disorder).

interrelations with staff and improved security in treatment settings. Considering this movement, population management has become a vital tool and DJJ continues to work toward this goal.

In FY 2007 two initiatives were implemented - a return to housing unit management as a basic approach to pairing staff with youth, and a behavior management program called REACH. REACH allows residents to earn credits for positive behavior and to exchange those credits for reinforcers or privileges. With consistent positive behavior residents can obtain higher levels within the program with greater access to reinforcers at each level. The program also emphasizes the relationship between staff and residents and the appropriate modeling of behavior. To facilitate the REACH program, the correctional centers are returning to the housing unit management concept that pairs the same staff to work with the same youth on an ongoing basis. Staff and residents get to know each other, thereby increasing the expectations for appropriate behavior within the unit. Staff can also be more attentive to the individual needs of the youth and help them with their day-to-day problems, all of which is expected to result in the solving of problems and issues at the lowest level and reducing the need for physical intervention by staff.

RECEPTION AND DIAGNOSTIC CENTER (RDC)

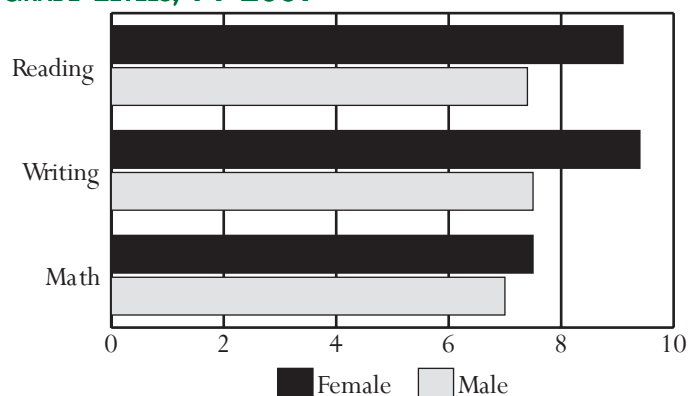

The Department maintains a centralized evaluation and classification process at the Carroll R. Minor Reception and Diagnostic Center (RDC). This facility serves as the central intake facility for all juveniles committed to DJJ and will be the first encounter a juvenile has with a correctional center. The facility was established in 1968 to receive, evaluate, and place all juveniles committed by the Juvenile and Domestic Relations District or Circuit Courts. With the primary function of orientation, evaluation, and classification of juveniles, services provided at RDC include academic, medical, psychological, behavioral, and sociological evaluation and classification to determine appropriate treatment needs, security requirements, institutional placements, and lengths of stay.

ADMISSIONS BY TREATMENT NEEDS, FY 2007

Although sex offender treatment is the least common treatment need, it can have the greatest impact on a ward's length of stay within the juvenile correctional centers.

ADMISSIONS BY READING, WRITING, AND MATH GRADE LEVELS, FY 2007

Female offenders consistently test at higher reading and writing grade levels. The difference is greatest for writing.

RDC operates a highly structured orientation and behavioral management program emphasizing development in areas of responsibility, empowerment, achievement, changes to ways of thinking and acting, and hope for a successful return to the community. It is designed to have juveniles take responsibility for their own actions and allows their behavior to determine quality of life, in terms of privileges. The facility consists of seven housing units; six for males and one for females. Juveniles may range in age from 11 to 20 and are typically housed at RDC from four to eight weeks depending upon individual needs. In addition to a psychological screening and evaluation, all youth receive medical and dental examinations. Sex offender evaluations are performed also. Each juvenile receives a battery of tests from the DCE staff to identify the appropriate educational level, vocational aptitude, and any special educational needs. RDC counselors are responsible for coordination of the evaluation process, individual and crisis counseling, completion of social history, and case management. At the conclusion of the evaluation process, individual evaluators meet to discuss each case to determine treatment needs, length of stay, classification, transitioning/re-entry, and placement recommendations. From RDC, juveniles are sent to their designated correctional facilities or special placements.

RDC plays a vital role in tracking juveniles through data. Juvenile Profiles, which provide a global picture of the juvenile and include education, mental health, physical, and social information, are developed at RDC. Additionally, the facility is responsible for housing and maintaining all master files. RDC is a clearinghouse for release information, works in conjunction with the State Library on retention and destruction of documents, and is responsible for initial case screening by reviewing all court and legal documentation regarding the commitment.

BEHAVIORAL SERVICES UNIT (BSU)

BSU is the organizational unit within the Division of Institutions that is responsible for providing mental health, substance abuse, sex offender, and anger control treatment services to youth who are in the JCCs and RDC.

Director of BSU; the Program Manager for Substance Abuse Services; the Program Manager for Sex Offender Services; and the Program Manager for Anger Control Services. All of the JCCs have a licensed clinical psychologist on site who serves as the treatment director for the institution as well as clinicians who provide direct services.

BSU employs doctoral and masters level clinicians (psychologists, clinical social workers, rehabilitation counselors, etc.) who provide direct services to youth. BSU attempts to hire clinicians who are already licensed and certified in their respective specialties, and staff without prior license or certification are strongly encouraged to receive the supervision and training necessary to become certified and/or licensed. All supervisory staff are licensed mental health professionals.

Mental Health Treatment: Upon arrival at RDC each youth undergoes a psychological evaluation to identify his or her treatment needs. To address the mental health treatment needs of incarcerated youth, BSU provides individual, group, and family psychotherapy; crisis intervention services including assessment and prevention of self-injurious behavior; psychological assessment; case consultation; and staff training in treatment issues. Each institution has a part-time consulting psychiatrist who provides psychiatric evaluation and medication management. BSU provides 24/7 on-call services to respond to mental health emergencies including commitment to a psychiatric hospital.

BSU staffs intensive services units in the larger institutions to address the treatment needs of youth with significant emotional problems who cannot function well in the general population. In addition, BSU staff play integral roles in the design and implementation of treatment programs for special populations including the intellectually challenged and girls.

Substance Abuse Treatment: During evaluation at RDC, the substance abuse treatment needs of youth are assessed, and an individualized treatment plan is developed. State-of-the-art approaches for the treatment of adolescent substance abusers are employed and include psychoeducation and process groups. BSU staffs a self-contained unit for girls and three self-contained units for boys with significant substance abuse problems. Treatment completion generally requires three to six months.

Sex Offender Treatment: DJJ opened its first state-operated juvenile sex offender treatment unit in January 1990. The program has significantly expanded since that time in order to provide services to all juvenile sex offenders in the system. DJJ currently has 11 self-contained sex offender treatment units across five JCCs. Beaumont and Culpeper offer treatment to older juveniles; Hanover and Bon Air offer services to younger high school and middle school juveniles;

Care provided through Health Services and Oak Ridge provides treatment to developmentally delayed juveniles of all ages.

Most juvenile sex offenders are placed in self-contained units. These units offer intensive milieu-based treatment where juveniles reside in housing units with other sex offenders. The units offer a range of treatment modalities that include individual and group psychotherapy, psycho-educational groups, and family psychotherapy. They are typically staffed by a psychologist, social worker, institutional counselor, and juvenile correctional officers. The clinical staff are either licensed or certified as sex offender treatment providers. Juvenile sex offenders are a heterogeneous population and treatment is individualized. However, all sex offenders address a number of core treatment objectives supplemented by individualized treatment activities. On average, successful completion of treatment requires approximately 18 months.

Because of the small number of female sex offenders, it has not been necessary to operate a self-contained sex offender treatment unit for girls.

HEALTH SERVICES

All medical, dental, nursing, and related health services are provided to youth confined within the JCCs. On intake, 40% of youth have a medical need requiring attention that often is a result of being medically underserved prior to admission. To meet the needs of confined youth, DJJ maintains a staff of board-certified physicians, dentists, and nurses. Services are provided at all JCCs to ensure that the medical, psychiatric, and dental care needs of youth are met during confinement. DJJ has a contract with Anthem to provide access to community health care providers for juveniles confined to detention centers and JCCs. This contract ensures all health care services provided to confined youth, exterior to these confinement facilities, are delivered by qualified practitioners in a cost-effective fashion. The contract exemplifies the efforts of Health Services to provide quality care using the most efficient and economical service delivery models available.

DJJ's Health Services division works with the Department of Education, Department of Health, Department of Social Services and the Department of Mental Health, Mental Retardation and Substance Abuse Services on an initiative through the Center for Disease Control encouraging state agencies to work collaboratively to address the health needs of high risk youth.

The clinical staff of DJJ offers education courses to physician, dental, and nursing staff who work in correctional and detention centers from across the Commonwealth to ensure that they are current on adolescent health medical issues.

SECURITY AND OPERATIONS

The Security and Operations Section of the Division of Institutional Services incorporates functions that provide public safety including supervision and control of committed juveniles and support functions of proper facility operation. Security, which involves both public safety and the safety of the juveniles themselves, is facilitated by the juvenile correctional officers (JCOs) in the field. JCOs operate, using paramilitary style rankings and titles, under standard operating procedures that set forth proper techniques for addressing various situations and how facilities and services are to operate on a 24-hour basis. Support staff provide basic daily operating services including food service, maintenance, human resources, medical, recreation, and business office responsibilities.

As a safeguard for the resident, a grievance process is in place in the institutions. The grievance coordinator operates independently in order to provide juveniles with an outlet for addressing issues for which they have expressed concern.

CASE MANAGEMENT AND TREATMENT PROGRAMS

The Case Management and Programs Section of the Division incorporates functions that provide oversight of treatment needs, security requirements (with respect to classification), length of stay, institutional placement, and changes while in direct care. Case management staff monitor how treatment and programs are operated, assess progress achieved, set parameters for the programs, and deal with broad regulations on classification as well as the residential location of juveniles with different classifications. They are responsible for ensuring that all needed services are available (including mental health, substance abuse, sex offender, anger management, and independent living skills development) and operational at the facilities and serve as a liaison from the field to the administrative offices, and vice versa, for procedures and resources. They are responsible for establishing and updating the length of stay for each resident and the resident's custody classification. These staff follow the case management practices that will eventually justify the release of a juvenile back to the community and work with the community to provide a transition and parole plan for re-entry.

YOUTH INDUSTRIES

Juvenile re-entry programs begin with the premise that planning for release starts at intake. Recognizing that many of the youth released to the community from the JCCs are not prepared to enter the work force, the Youth Industries Program was created to help participants overcome barriers to employment and was designed as a partnership with DCE and the U.S. Department of Labor (DOL). DJJ manages its programs so that juveniles entrusted to its care are offered meaningful opportunities to learn employable skills and to practice those skills in a constructive environment.

Participant selection is based on a resident's custody level, age, physical abilities, length of stay, and educational development and requirements. Those residents who meet established criteria are afforded the opportunity to engage in employment provided both on the JCC grounds and in local communities through agreements with agencies of state and local government, private employers, foundations, and charitable organizations. Additionally, residents who otherwise might not be able to complete or participate in all phases of the work-training program may be offered the opportunity to contribute toward meaningful community service work activities both on the facility grounds and in the local communities.

Each JCC, in cooperation with DCE, develops its own processes to provide work-training programs to their population, based on local resources, staff competencies, and juvenile characteristics. For this reason, programs offered at each of the JCCs vary. However, similar elementary components are provided that lead towards a positive result as juveniles enter the workforce upon release. In an effort to improve a juvenile's likelihood of success, Youth Industries works with the State's One-Stop Centers, operated through the Virginia Workforce Council and Workforce Investment Boards, to help secure employment and other needed services for these youthful offenders.

Selected youth receive one or more of the following:

- vocational and academic instruction,
- hands-on work-based training,
- ongoing counseling services,
- transitional skills and services,
- and follow-up.

If warranted, participating juveniles are modestly compensated based on work-training hours completed or receive an established piecework rate. Fields of study may also be integrated with an apprenticeship program. Such fields of study include horticulture, silk screening, offset printing, food service, immediate assembly, woodworking, electrical, barbering, embroidery, vinyl sign-making, advertising and design, and computer repair. Each year, creative arts and crafts work produced by juveniles throughout DJJ are collected for display and sale at the annual Expressions Arts and Crafts Exhibit held at the General Assembly Building at the start of the legislative session.

During the past few fiscal years, DJJ, in conjunction with DCE, has utilized DOL grant funding from two separate grants to build/enhance Youth Industry programming at Beaumont, Culpeper, and Natural Bridge JCCs. Juveniles who participated in a program under the DOL grants were provided with an aftercare component that focused on the employability of the juvenile through education, work experience, direct job placement, follow-up, or a combination of these. Since expiration of the grant funding, DJJ and DCE have assumed all program-related costs to ensure that these opportunities continue to be available for residents.

Juvenile participating in the new Horticulture Program at Culpeper JCC

ADMISSIONS BY SECURITY INITIAL CLASSIFICATION LEVEL, FY 2007

62% of wards admitted to the JCCs in FY 2007 had a low or medium initial classification level.

At Beaumont, the funding was used to establish a barbering program, an electrical program, and to expand the printing program. Funding was used at Culpeper JCC to establish both a barbering and a horticulture program. At Natural Bridge, grant funds allowed for development of a 10-bed Work/Education Release program that utilizes living quarters separate from other juveniles housed at Natural Bridge JCC. This program provides selected juveniles an opportunity to obtain higher education or work-experiences outside of a JCC campus. Wages earned are first used to pay any restitutions, fines, or court costs.

Juveniles from the barbering and electrical programs at Beaumont have completed numerous jobs around the Beaumont facility, including electrical wiring and barbering work. The electrical program at Beaumont has also incorporated a copper/fiber optic based Network Cabling Installer course. Completing this eight-month course will allow a juvenile to become a certified cable installer. Currently, the juveniles at Culpeper JCC participating in the barbering program provide grooming services for other juveniles housed at the facility as well as to staff. The horticulture program is operational in a classroom setting, and the greenhouse is currently being constructed. Residents involved in the horticulture program have completed beautification projects at the Culpeper facility as well as other JCCs. To date, eight juveniles from the Beaumont and Culpeper barbering programs have earned their barbering licenses. By the end of FY 2007, 45 juveniles had participated in the Work/Education Release Program at Natural Bridge and have attended college classes at a nearby campus and/or have been employed by local businesses.

The Youth Industries program is also responsible for coordinating the Inter/Intramural Recreation and Extracurricular Activities Program (IREAP), which was introduced into the JCCs in 2007. IREAP is a component of the recently implemented REACH Behavioral Management Program, providing opportunities for the diverse resident population to participate in structured, healthy competition in traditional sports and academic-related activities. Scheduled activities for Fall 2007 include basketball, softball, chess, and table tennis tournaments, and an academic bowl. These activities will allow the residents a chance to travel to other JCCs and compete against their peers.

CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM

The Department operates an objective classification system to enable staff to assess a resident's appropriate security and custody level, determine the most appropriate services and programs, assign residents to appropriate housing placements within a facility, and assess residents for placement in community transition programs and for special needs. The classification system also provides for periodic reviews of security, custody, and program placement in light of the juveniles' needs and progress and for the re-classification of juveniles as appropriate. A resident's behavior, initial committing offense and willingness to participate in treatment/education programs will impact the classification level.

Residents are classified according to their need for structure:

- Level I - low structure
- Level II - medium structure
- Level III - high structure
- Level IV - intensive structure

Facilities are classified according to the level of security they provide:

- Level I - low security, structure, and supervision
- Level II - medium security, structure, and supervision
- Level III - high security, structure, and supervision
- Level IV - intensive security, structure, and supervision

Residents are assigned to facilities based on these classification levels, age, sex, and other factors identified in Appendix D. The need for specific treatment may override a classification level, but the classification level is still taken into consideration for room assignment, not treatment needs. For example, a Level I and a Level IV may both participate in Sex Offender treatment together, but they will not be housed in the same living quarters. (Initial Classification and Reclassification forms can be found in Appendices F and G respectively.)

ADMISSIONS BY LENGTH OF STAY ASSIGNMENTS, FY 2007

13% of wards admitted to the JCCs in FY 2007 had a determinate or blended sentence. Of those with an indeterminate sentence, 22% were assigned a minimum LOS range of 18 or more months.

LENGTH OF STAY (LOS)

Using guidelines issued by the Board of Juvenile Justice, DJJ establishes the length of stay for indeterminately committed juveniles based on the severity of a juvenile’s offense(s), chronicity of criminal behavior, and any aggravating or mitigating factors associated with the criminal behavior, with due consideration given to the youth’s treatment needs and demonstrated behavior while under DJJ’s supervision. LOS categories are defined by an anticipated minimum and maximum number of months that the resident will remain with DJJ. For example, the LOS category

3-6 indicates a resident is expected to stay between three and six months. The actual LOS may vary from this range due to institutional offenses or failure to complete mandatory treatment. (The guidelines and LOS categories can be found in Appendix E.)

PROJECTION FOR THE INSTITUTIONAL POPULATION

Each year DJJ, in conjunction with the Governor’s Inmate Population Forecasting Committee, produces a projection of the state responsible juvenile average daily population. The most recent forecast projects the institutional population to decrease by 8% between FY 2007 and FY 2011. It is important to note that the values shown in the table are the June values for each fiscal year.

AVERAGE DAILY POPULATION (JUNE) - HISTORICAL AND PROJECTED, FY 2003-2011

The state responsible juvenile offender population (including private provider programs) is expected to decrease by 8% between FY 2007 - 2011. The historical ADP and forecast numbers shown in the table are the June values for each fiscal year.

Virginia Wilderness Institute (VWI)

DJJ contracts with the Associated Marine Institute (AMI) to manage and operate the Virginia Wilderness Institute (VWI), a 32-bed facility serving committed offenders. Remotely located in Grundy, Virginia, VWI is a highly structured, disciplined, residential program for males. The program focuses on accountability and competency. The facility emphasizes work ethics, education, self-discipline, responsibility, and accountability through participation in rigorous work and daily structure. VWI offers a full range of academic and vocational instruction. A community coordinator works with each resident, both before and after release from the facility, to assist in transition to the community. The community coordination includes assistance with job search, school re-enrollment, and locating other support services in the community. Information on rearrest, reconviction, and reincarceration rates for juveniles placed at VWI may be found in the Reoffense Rates section.

Chesapeake Community Placement Program (CPP)

Chesapeake Juvenile Services operates the Community Placement Program (CPP) to serve committed male offenders through a contractual partnership between DJJ and the detention center. This 10-bed program began in December 2004 and allows for placement of state-committed juveniles in a smaller, community-based setting. Pursuant to the contractual agreement, the Chesapeake CPP utilizes a positive-based, incentive-earning, behavior management program and offers services including anger management, substance abuse, life and employability skills, and vocational education. Facility-specific services include Moral Reconciliation Therapy, family therapy, and a horticulture program, whereby residents maintain a greenhouse on the premises. Residents are enrolled in an accredited local school program, licensed by the Department of Education, and may work toward earning a high school diploma or GED.

Shenandoah Community Placement Program (CPP)

The Community Placement Program (CPP) at Shenandoah Valley Juvenile Center began in April 2004 to serve committed male offenders through a contractual partnership between DJJ and the detention center. The program allows for placement of state-committed juveniles in a smaller, community-based setting by providing them with a secure 10-bed pod separate from the detention population. CPP utilizes a positive-based, incentive-earning, behavior management program and offers services based upon a cognitive-behavioral theoretical model including anger management and substance abuse. The Department of Education provides the educational program as well as a teacher specifically dedicated to the CPP. Curricula include life, employability, and vocational skills. In addition, residents may work toward high school diploma credits or work on and even earn a GED while in the Program. Residents who meet the appropriate criteria may qualify for social and community outings, including participation in the Community Food Pantry Program.

Reoffense Rates

Bell Ellis Cottage at Beaumont JCC, which DJJ plans to use as transitional housing for juveniles soon to be released back to the community

Measuring Reoffense Rates

Recidivism, or reoffending, is an important concept for juvenile and adult criminal justice systems because it provides a measure of outcome success. In terms of public awareness, this concept is usually the primary measure of interest when evaluating program effectiveness. Use of a standardized measure of recidivism allows evaluation across different types of programs and facilitates comparison to program outcomes from other states.

While there are many studies on offender recidivism, comparison of results is often difficult because the evaluation methodologies used vary widely. Definitions of recidivism differ from study to study. Characteristics of the juveniles studied may not be adequately identified. These issues, as well as others surrounding reoffense analysis, were discussed in DJJ's research quarterly on juvenile recidivism in Virginia (available on the DJJ website at www.djj.virginia.gov/Resources/DJJ_Publications/ResearchQuarterlies.aspx.)

METHODS FOR STUDYING REOFFENDING

One of the methods used to evaluate reoffending is the longitudinal cohort study. A cohort is simply a group of individuals who share some common characteristic, such as release from incarceration during a specific year. This method may use the entire population of interest or a sample from that population. The chosen cohort is then followed over a period of time so that any trends for that group may be identified. For reoffense rates, a cohort is tracked for a specific follow-up period and any reoffenses are counted.

Most recidivism studies use the longitudinal cohort method, including the Florida Department of Corrections report on adult recidivism (2003) and Virginia's annual evaluations of juvenile reoffending (see previous Data Resource Guides). This method provides a better picture of long-term trends and allows public safety agencies to see patterns in offending.

The diagram shows a typical path for a longitudinal cohort analysis. First, the cohort is chosen (for example, all juveniles released from JCCs during FY 2006). At the end of a specified follow-up period (for this example, 12 months after release) all instances of reoffending are identified. The cohort is then divided into two groups – those who did and those who did not reoffend.

DEFINITIONS OF REOFFENDING

The American Correctional Association (ACA) has stated that the definition of recidivism is one of the primary issues for juvenile and adult correctional organizations. According to the ACA, "...there are numerous ways to measure recidivism...[d]epending on what perspective is taken, statistical outcomes may vary."

There are three commonly accepted definitions used to measure reoffending:

- Rearrest refers to a petitioned juvenile complaint for a new criminal offense made at intake or an adult arrest for a new criminal offense. Rearrest is an important measure of reoffending because it represents the initial official contact with the criminal justice system. Uses of rearrest rates are limited as a gauge of reoffending because rearrest measures police activity, and juveniles may be rearrested for offenses they did not actually commit.

- Reconviction refers to a guilty adjudication for a delinquent or criminal offense. This measure represents a more stringent way to measure reoffending. Because reconviction rates are based on the final disposition for an offense, only cases with an admission of guilt or a court adjudication of guilty are counted. Only reconviction meets the definition of recidivism used by DJJ.
- Reincarceration refers to a return to incarceration (after having been previously released from incarceration in a juvenile or adult facility) subsequent to rearrest and reconviction on a new criminal offense. This measure indicates that the new offense is serious enough to warrant a return to incarceration.

A report on offender risk assessment in Virginia (Ostrom et al., 2002) emphasized that the way recidivism is defined influences the interpretation of study results. According to their report, there are strengths and weaknesses associated with each measure of recidivism. Use of rearrest as a measure of recidivism has the advantage of not being influenced by court proceedings (offense reduction, plea bargaining, diversion) but may overestimate the level of reoffending because arrest criteria are less stringent than conviction criteria. Rearrest rates represent the maximum rate for reoffending as captured in official records.

Use of reconviction as a measure of recidivism lessens the likelihood of overinflating reoffending rates. It should be noted that time to reconviction is best measured as the “number of days until a new arrest for which the offender will be subsequently convicted,” so that any discrepancies in court procedures will not influence the measurement of time to reoffense. Therefore, reconvictions represent a subset of rearrests.

Reincarceration rates offer the most stringent measure of reoffending. Juveniles recommitted to a JCC or sentenced to an adult facility have been considered by a judge to have committed offenses serious enough to justify return to a correctional facility. The measure represents a further subset of rearrests – reoffending that has been adjudicated guilty and resulted in reentry into a juvenile correctional facility or sentence for incarceration into an adult facility.

ISSUES WITH THE STUDY OF REOFFENDING

Ostrom et al. (2002) note that studies of reoffending (recidivism) differ in terms of the length of time used for follow-up. Length of follow-up in these studies has ranged anywhere from three months to five years. Most studies use a one year follow-up period to assess reoffending. While reoffending rates are often highest within the first year after release or judicial action, the limitation of follow-up to one year does not allow for a comprehensive analysis of reoffending patterns. Studies of reoffending should use longer follow-up periods in order to get a better idea of the recidivism process. Ostrom et al. (2002) recommend the use of a follow-up period of at least one to three years.

There are other issues relevant to the examination of reoffending, particularly for juveniles. First, most studies have focused on offenders who have been released from correctional centers. Focusing on this group limits the understanding of reoffending rates because it does not allow for examination of all individuals who have contact with the justice system and eliminates the possibility of comparison between individuals who have been incarcerated in secure facilities versus individuals who may have been sent to diversion programs or placed on probation.

Also, few studies have tracked offenses through both the juvenile and adult justice systems. A complete examination of juvenile reoffending is not possible unless all juvenile and adult contacts with the justice system are included.

Additionally, studies of reoffending should include information on gender and age differences when presenting reoffense data, particularly evaluations of juvenile reoffending. There are well documented normal developmental differences between males and females, as well as juveniles in early adolescence versus late adolescence. Therefore, reoffending patterns should not be assumed to be the same for all juveniles. For example, a 2002 study by DJJ found that female offenders admitted to JCCs were more likely than male offenders to have been admitted for a non-felony. A study by Oregon (2004) on juvenile recidivism found that juveniles ages 13-16 were most likely to reoffend within the Oregon juvenile justice system.

DJJ'S STUDY OF JUVENILE REOFFENDING

Data on juvenile offenders in Virginia are contained in the DJJ Juvenile Tracking System (JTS). The JTS contains information on juvenile intakes, detention placements, commitments to JCCs or other incarceration alternatives, and probation placements for all localities within Virginia. This information allows for the examination of juvenile reoffending patterns in a standardized way. DJJ also obtains statewide adult arrest and conviction information from the Virginia State Police and the Virginia Sentencing Commission. In addition, DJJ acquires information on subsequent incarcerations from the Department of Corrections (DOC) and the State Compensation Board. Information from these sources enables the study of statewide juvenile reoffending patterns with long-term follow-up periods.

Juvenile reoffending patterns for FY 2001 through FY 2006 were examined for this Data Resource Guide. Juvenile and adult arrest data on juveniles released from Virginia JCCs or placed on probation during these years were examined. The follow-up period ranged from a minimum of one year to a maximum of three years, depending on the date the juvenile was released or placed. Demographic information for reoffenses was also included.

Although all three measures of reoffending were included in this Data Resource Guide, it is important to note that the official DJJ recidivism definition is based on measures of reconviction. In February 2000, the Director of the Virginia Department of Juvenile Justice issued an administrative directive (07-710) that established an official definition for recidivism to be used by the Department (this directive was updated in December 2004).

For the purposes of reporting recidivism rates of juveniles as required by Code of Virginia §2.2-222, the Department will use the following definition:

A recidivist is a person who is found by a court to have committed, after being (a) placed on probation or (b) released from confinement, a delinquent or criminal act other than violation of probation or parole.

As the recidivism definition currently stands, all instances of petitioned delinquent intakes and adult arrests for criminal activity (for which a juvenile has been adjudicated guilty) that occur after a juvenile is released from a JCC or is placed on probation are collected by DJJ. Technical violations are not included in this definition of reoffending. Tracking information on all subsequent offenses provides a better measure of reoffending than simply gathering information from the juvenile justice system alone.

Reoffense Rates for JCC Releases and Probation Placements

Reoffense data were examined for FY 2001 through FY 2006 for the following cohorts:

- JCC Releases – all juveniles released from juvenile correctional centers;
- Probation Placements – juveniles placed on probation for the first time (the entire population was used for FY 2002 through FY 2006; randomly selected, representative samples were used for FY 2001);
- Juveniles in DJJ Programs – all juveniles who were in various treatment programs (including juveniles served by VJCCCA) or incarceration alternatives (including post-dispositional detention programs) between FY 2004 and FY 2006.

Tables on the next few pages include the following data:

- Rearrest rates are presented from FY 2001 to FY 2006, for both JCC Releases and Probation Placement cohorts;
- Reconviction rates are presented for FY 2001- FY 2005 for both JCC Release and Probation Placement cohorts;
- Reincarceration rates are presented for FY 2002 through FY 2005 JCC Releases. These rates represent recommitment back into a JCC, incarceration in a penitentiary (not including blended sentences), or a jail sentence imposed by a judge. Data on any commitment to a JCC or an adult incarceration are also included for the post-dispositional detention program cohorts.

Reoffense data did not include the following offenses: violation of probation or parole, contempt of court, failure to appear, noncriminal domestic relations/child welfare complaints, or non-criminal traffic violations. Also, only petitioned delinquent intakes were used for the analysis.

When the length of time to rearrest or reconviction is reported, it indicates the time between the date the juvenile was released from a JCC or placed on probation, and the date of a new arrest. For reincarceration length of time, the difference between the release date from a JCC and the reincarceration date was used.

There is a slight discrepancy between the total number of JCC Releases/Probation Placements in the reoffense analysis when compared with the total number of juveniles released from the JCCs or placed on probation reported in other sections of this Data Resource Guide. This slight discrepancy is due to the following methodological criteria used to establish the cohorts:

- Probation Placement cohorts did not include those few juveniles with missing date of birth data. This information is required to match cases in different state data systems (such as the DJJ JTS and the Virginia Criminal Information Network used by the Virginia State Police).
- Juveniles released from the JCCs under the following conditions were not included in the reoffense analysis: juveniles placed into RDC pre-dispositionally but not committed to the JCCs, juveniles sent directly to DOC upon release from the JCCs, or juveniles released from the JCCs on appeal (these juveniles were included in the analysis for any subsequent admissions and releases once the appeal process was completed and the juveniles were found guilty).

The numbers presented in this section have changed from previous Data Resource Guides due to more comprehensive information obtained from other agencies.

- Recidivism rates for FY 2005 (defined as reconviction rates by DJJ) at 12-months were:
 - 36.7% for juveniles released from the JCCs;
 - 26.6% for juveniles placed on probation.
- JCC Releases had higher 12-month rearrest rates than Probation Placements between FY 2001 and FY 2006 and higher 12-month reconviction rates between FY 2001 and FY 2005.
- The following reoffending patterns were noted at 12-months comparing FY 2004 and FY 2005:
 - For JCC Releases, all reoffense rates decreased.
 - For Probation Placements, the reconviction rate increased slightly.

As mentioned earlier, DJJ does not use rearrest rates for the official definition for recidivism. Examining rearrest rates is helpful, however, because these rates reflect the level of additional official contact juveniles have with the justice system after release or placement. Also, analysis of rearrest allows for comparison to other studies that use rearrest as their measure of recidivism. Evaluation of rearrest rates provides a sense of the maximum rate of known reoffending that occurs over time.

- Rearrest rates for Probation Placements have been consistently lower than rearrest rates for JCC Releases since FY 2001 (with the exception of the 3-month rearrest rates in FY 2003 and FY 2006.)
- The 12-month rearrest rate for JCC Releases decreased from 52.1% in FY 2004 to 49.5% in FY 2005 and then further to 43.0% in FY 2006. For Probation Placements, the 12-month rearrest rate increased slightly between FY 2005 and FY 2006.
- Rearrest rates by time to reoffense are listed in the table above.
 - For JCC Releases, the rearrest rates between FY 2001 and FY 2006 were relatively stable with the difference in yearly rates ranging between 2% and 4%. The only exception was a 6.5% decrease at the 12-month interval between FY 2005 and FY 2006.
 - Much like JCC Releases, the rearrest rates for Probation Placements also remained relatively stable between FY 2001 and FY 2006. Again, the variation between yearly rates was minimal, ranging between 1% and 3%.
- Of the successfully diverted intakes in FY 2006, 22% were rearrested within 12-months for a new offense (unrelated to the one for which they were diverted) compared to 19% in FY 2005.

- Males had higher rearrest rates than females for both JCC Releases and Probation Placements.
- Black juveniles had higher rearrest rates for both JCC Releases and Probation Placements.
- Some age groups comprise a small percentage of releases. Therefore, the rearrest of only a few juveniles can strongly influence the rates. It is important to consider this when looking at the percentages for each specific age group.

DJJ's official definition of recidivism requires a new conviction. This rate is preferred because it considers the final adjudication of guilt, rather than level of arrest activity. Only offenses for which there has been a clear final disposition of guilt are counted as reconviictions. Reconviiction rates will increase slightly when reexamined next year because of updated final case dispositions.

- Reconviiction rates for Probation Placements have been consistently lower than the reconviiction rates for JCC Releases.
- The 12-month reconviiction rate for JCC Releases decreased 5.0% from FY 2004 to FY 2005. For Probation Placements, the 12-month reconviiction rate has remained stable over the past five fiscal years.
- Reconviiction rates by time to reoffense are listed in the table above.
 - Reconviiction rates for JCC Releases remained relatively stable, varying by only 1% to 4%, between FY 2001 and FY 2004. The 3-, 6-, and 12-month reconviiction rates all decreased from FY 2004 to FY 2005.
 - For Probation Placements, the reconviiction rate also showed little fluctuation over the past five fiscal years. Between FY 2001 and FY 2005 Probation Placement reconviiction rates only varied, in most instances, by less than one percent.

REINCARCERATION RATES, FY 2002-2005

DJJ tracks both juvenile and adult reincarceration. Reincarceration rates are based on any new commitment to a JCC, DOC, or a sentence for time in a local jail. The addition of adult reincarceration data allows for a complete comparison of reoffense rates for all former DJJ residents, from rearrest to possible reincarceration. The inclusion of adult incarceration information, for both the prisons and jails, is especially useful because DJJ retains custody of some wards until age 21.

Reincarceration rates presented in this Data Resource Guide may differ from rates presented in previous years because of updated information obtained from DOC and from the Virginia Compensation Board (local jail sentence information) for FY 2002 through FY 2005 JCC Releases.

Due to methodological changes, 2001 rates are unavailable

- Reincarceration rates remained relatively stable for most follow-up intervals between FY 2002 and FY 2005.
- The percent of JCC Releases recommitted to the JCCs within 12-months of release decreased from 7.8% in FY 2002 to 6.4% in FY 2005. The remaining reincarcerations were into adult facilities.

TWELVE-MONTH REINCARCERATION RATES BY SEX, RACE, AND AGE, FY 2005*

Demographic data for 12-month reincarceration rates for JCC Releases are presented in the table below.

- Males had higher reincarceration rates than females.
- Black juveniles had the highest reincarceration rates.
- Reincarceration rates were highest for juveniles who were age 17 or older at the time of their release from the JCCs.
 - Approximately one percent (10 juveniles) were age 13 or younger when they were released from the JCCs in FY 2005. Because this number is small, the reincarceration of only a few juveniles strongly influences the rate.

The CSU District is identified by the Juvenile and Domestic Relations District Court that originally committed the juvenile to the Department or placed the juvenile on probation.

TWELVE-MONTH REOFFENSE RATES FOR JCC RELEASES AND PROBATION PLACEMENTS BY RISK LEVEL

Risk Level	JCC Releases			Probation Placements

High	51.0%	39.0%	27.1%	52.7%	39.4%

There were a small number of juveniles with a low risk level.

The Virginia Department of Juvenile Justice Risk Assessment Instrument (see Appendix H) is completed by CSU staff to determine a juvenile's relative risk of reoffending. The risk assessment instrument classifies reoffense risk as low, moderate, or high. The risk assessment is completed as part of a social history report, and is therefore not completed for all juveniles. A juvenile's risk assessment score is one of the factors examined when parole supervision level is established. Juveniles with high risk assessment scores usually receive higher levels of parole supervision when first released from the JCCs.

The table above presents the reoffense rates for JCC Releases and Probation Placements with completed risk assessment scores. For both JCC Releases and Probation Placements, juveniles with low risk levels had the lowest reoffense rates and juveniles with high risk levels had the highest reoffense rates. These rates are consistent with probable reoffense risk (according to risk score levels). In FY 2005, 5% of JCC Releases and 13% of Probation Placements were missing risk assessment scores and in FY 2006, 7% of JCC releases and 11% of Probation Placements were missing scores.

- JCC Releases had somewhat higher reconviction rates than Probation Placements at the low risk level.
- For the moderate risk level, reconviction rates for JCC Releases were higher than the rates for Probation Placements.
- Rearrest and reconviction rates at the high risk level were similar for both the JCC Releases and the Probation Placements.
- When looking at the various risk levels in reference to reoffense data, the rates show that the Risk Assessment Instrument is accurately classifying juveniles with regard to their risk of reoffense.

VJCCCA programs serve thousands of juveniles each year, with a variety of programs in each locality. One of the outcome measures chosen for the evaluation of VJCCCA programs is rearrest (defined as a new petitioned intake or adult arrest). The rearrest rates at 3-, 6-, and 12-month follow-up intervals for juveniles who were placed in VJCCCA programs are provided in the table above. For comparative purposes, the rearrest rates for Probation Placements and JCC Releases for these years are also listed.

- The rearrest rates at the 3-, 6-, and 12-month follow-up intervals remained relatively stable for the VJCCCA Placements and Probation Placements while JCC Releases have decreased steadily at each interval.
- For FY 2004 through FY 2006, VJCCCA Placements had the highest 3-month rearrest rates when compared to JCC Releases and Probation Placements. The 6- and 12-month rearrest rates for VJCCCA Placements were lower than the rearrest rates for JCC Releases. The 6- and 12-month rearrest rates for VJCCCA Placements were higher than the rates for Probation Placements with the exception of the 12-month rearrest rate in FY 2006, which was slightly lower.

Many juveniles committed to DJJ participate in programs designed to meet their treatment needs. There are also various programmatic opportunities to assist in the successful return of these committed juveniles to the community. Not all those who are adjudicated guilty are placed in the JCCs, however. There are commitment alternatives available to judges for placement of juveniles who may be better served in non-JCC residential facilities. The table above presents the 12-month reoffense rates for juveniles in these programs who were released from the JCCs or post-dispositional detention programs between FY 2004 to FY 2006.

The table is not intended to provoke a comparison between the different programs – these programs often serve vastly different groups of juveniles with varying offense histories, treatment needs, and skills. Also, some programs serve a small number of youth each year – in such instances the reoffenses of only a few juveniles may result in a seemingly “high” overall reoffense rate. The information in this table may be useful as DJJ evaluates these programs and commitment alternatives over time. Also, these data may serve as a source of comparison for similar programs in other states. It should be noted that all programs in the table except post-dispositional detention are subsets of the overall JCC population; no comparisons are made between program reoffense rates and the overall JCC release rates for that reason.

Substance Abuse Treatment Need – all reoffense rates decreased between the time periods reported.

Sex Offender Treatment Need – all reoffense rates decreased between the time periods reported.

Youth Industries Programs – rearrest rates decreased between the time periods reported, while reconviction and reincarceration rates increased.

Hanover JCC Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC) – Reoffense rates increased between FY 2004 and FY 2005. Subsequently, rearrest decreased between FY 2005 and FY 2006.

Residential Substance Abuse Treatment (RSAT) Program – between FY 2004 and FY 2005 reconviction and reincarceration rates increased. The RSAT program only serves females in the JCCs (see pages 184 -186 for the reoffense rates for female JCC Releases).

Virginia Wilderness Institute (VWI) – all reoffense rates decreased over the fiscal years examined.

Halfway Houses – with the exception of rearrest rates from FY 2004 to FY 2005, all reoffense rates decreased over the fiscal years examined.

Apartment Living Program – with the exception of rearrest rates from FY 2005 to FY 2006, all reoffense rates decreased over the fiscal years examined.

Post-Dispositional Detention (with programs) – rearrest and reconviction rates increased during the time periods reported. Although juveniles placed into post-dispositional programs were not in the JCCs, a “reincarceration” rate is reported to illustrate the rate of their return to a secure setting.

SEVERITY LEVEL AND RELATED OFFENSES

LOS Level	Offense Type	Examples
1	Class 1 Misdemeanors and unclassified felonies carrying a maximum sentence of one year	Simple Assault
2	Class 4, 5, and 6 Felonies and unclassified felonies carrying a maximum sentence of 10 years	Unauthorized Use Extortion

CHRONICITY SCORE DETERMINATION

Offense Type	Weighted Score
All Felonies	2 points
Class 1 Misdemeanors	1 point

Note: All felonies and all Class 1 misdemeanors are counted EXCEPT the offenses that were used to determine the severity level.

INITIAL LOS STEPS AND ADJUSTMENTS TO DETERMINE FINAL LOS RANGE

Numbers refer to Current and Prior Offense Severity, respectively, according to the Severity Level table above. For example, a juvenile has an initial LOS Step of 1-3. Therefore, the LOS level for the most serious Current Offense is 1, and the LOS level for the most serious Prior Offense is 3. This juvenile will have an LOS range of 6-12 months barring any adjustments for chronic offense behavior and aggravating or mitigating circumstances.

Current and Prior Most Serious Offense Severity Level	Chronicity Score (points)	Final LOS Early - Late
1 - 1	0 - 7	3 - 6 months
	8 - 11	6 - 9 months
	12 or more	9 - 12 months

RISK ASSESSMENT INSTRUCTIONS

RISK INSTRUMENT DEFINITIONS

1. Age at First Referral to CSU - Determine the youth's age at the time he/she was first referred to the CSU for a delinquent or status offense. Do not include referrals for dependency or custody. The outcome (e.g., diverted, petitioned) of the first referral does not matter.
2. Number of Adjudicated Offenses Disposed of at Current Disposition - This is a count of the number of ADJUDICATED OFFENSES that were/are to be disposed of at the current dispositional hearing. Do not include any offenses/charges that were not adjudicated. In counting adjudicated offenses, count only those that represented separate incidents. If a youth was adjudicated for two burglaries that occurred on two different nights that is two adjudications. However, if a youth was involved in a robbery and got charged/adjudicated for multiple counts of lesser included offenses (e.g., robbery, assault, theft) that should be counted as one offense, not three.
3. Total Petitions for Violent Offenses - This is a count of all PETITIONS for violent offenses in the youth's record. Be sure to count any and all petitions for violent offenses that occurred up to the date of the current disposition (even if they have not yet been adjudicated or disposed of). The petitions must reflect separate incidents, not multiple charges arising from the same incident. Violent offenses include all offenses against persons that are assaultive in nature including felony and misdemeanor assaults, kidnapping, murder, armed robbery, and robbery, carjacking, sexual assaults, etc.
4. Total Petitions for Drug or Conspiracy Offenses - This is a count of all PETITIONS in the youth's record for drug charges (sales, possession with intent to sell, use, possession) or for conspiracy charges. Count only those petitions arising from separate incidents, not multiple charges arising from the same incident. If a youth gets arrested for drug sales and gets three separate petitions alleging sales and possession, that is one incident (not two) and should be counted as one petition. Be sure to count any and all drug or conspiracy petitions that occurred up to the date of the current disposition.
5. Types of Petitions for Property Offenses - This is a count of the number of different TYPES of property offense petitions. It is not a count of the total number of petitions for property offenses. There are a total of five different types of property offenses that are considered: burglary; larceny; fraud; arson; and trespass/vandalism. Check the youth's entire record to determine how many of these different types the youth has been petitioned for. As above, only count petitions arising from separate incidents. If a youth committed one burglary during which he stole something, and was petitioned for burglary and theft, that's one petition. In such cases, count the most serious type. Be sure to count any and all property offense petitions that occurred up to the current disposition.
6. Substance Abuse - Indicate the degree to which drug/alcohol involvement has affected youth's normal functioning in the two years prior to the current disposition. Consider both frequency (e.g., "occasional", "frequent") and effect of use ("some" or "serious disruption/interference").
 - No Problem/experimentation: no use or occasional use that does not result in disruption of functioning. Uses less than once per month; OR more frequent use but relationships with parents not strained over use or involvement with using peers; AND no school problems associated with use; AND no arrests for D/A related offenses (within past two years).
 - Problematic: use of substances is associated with some or major disruption of functioning. Family relationships may have become strained over use; OR strong ties to D/A involved peers; OR deterioration in school performance believed to be drug/alcohol related; OR one or more school disciplinary actions related to substance abuse; OR one or more substance abuse-related arrests (past two years); OR any referral in past two years for out-patient or in-patient treatment for D/A abuse; OR admitted or diagnosed dependency.
7. School Status- Indicate whether the youth is enrolled and attending school, or has been expelled or has dropped out. If the youth has truancy problems, but is still going to school, he/she should be given a score of "0". However, if the youth has been truant for more than half the days in the last 9 months of school, consider them to have "dropped out" (and score "2").
8. Peer relationships - Use the definitions below to guide the scoring of this item.
 - No negative associations or youth is a loner: friends not known to be delinquent or to have influenced youth's involvement in delinquent behavior- no more than one referral involving co-defendants; OR youth has no/few friends; engages in solitary pursuits and/or spends most time with much younger children.
 - Some delinquent peers: some companions involved in delinquent behavior. Has had co-defendants in 2-3 arrests and/or some friends have been referred to juvenile court.
 - Mostly delinquent peers: primary peer group has a strong delinquent orientation and/or most friends have been referred to juvenile court, and/or four or more arrests involving codefendants; and or youth is a gang or posse member or affiliate.
9. History of Runaways/Escapes - Indicate whether the youth has a history of multiple runaways from home (defined as being gone for 24 hours or more) OR had ever runaway or escaped from a placement facility (secure or non-secure). The time frame for this question is "ever".
10. Referred to DSS - Indicate whether the youth was ever referred to DSS as a victim of child abuse of neglect. It does not matter if the allegation was founded/substantiated or not.
11. Family Functioning Characteristics- Use the definitions below to determine the extent of family disorganization.
 - No Problem: family functioning was basically stable and supportive. Physical and emotional needs of youth were being met. Parental discipline and control were generally effective.
 - Some Disorganization: family problems interfered with youth functioning (or youth problems interfered with family functioning). Parent-parent or parent-child conflict occurred frequently and at times was disruptive, OR parental discipline and control were often ineffective or inconsistent, OR there was residential instability or financial problems, or there had been; recent disruptive event such as divorce, remarriage or a death in the family.
 - Major Disorganization: problems severely inhibited the youth's ability to function. Youth's physical or emotional needs were not being met, OR parent rejecting of, or refused responsibility for youth, OR chronic, serious parental problems (financial, mental health, illness, criminality), OR parent-parent or parent-child conflict occurred consistently and created turmoil, OR repeated instances of family violence, OR parental discipline and control were almost non-existent, OR parents contributed to youth's delinquency.
12. Family Criminality - Indicate whether a parent figure or sibling (or both) was on probation/parole or incarcerated during the three years prior to the current disposition. Incarcerated means sentenced to incarceration (do not include pre-trial jail or detention.) If a parent OR a sibling had been on probation or incarcerated, score "1". If BOTH had been, score "2". Parent figure includes natural parents, step-parents and live-in boyfriends/girlfriends. Do not include aunts, uncles, or other relatives unless they are caretakers/parent figures.
