WHEREAS, Mr. May was effectively given a life sentence as a juvenile and is not parole-eligible due to Virginia's three-strikes law; and

WHEREAS, Mr. May has reformed himself considerably and achieved great success through the Virginia Department of Corrections' programs for education and rehabilitation, garnering the support of many individuals, including corrections officers, program facilitators, and fellow inmates in his pursuit of clemency; and

WHEREAS, it is this very possibility of rehabilitation and redemption, which Mr. May has achieved, that makes a sentence of life without possibility of parole so cruel and offensive to the principles of a civilized society; and

WHEREAS, on December 20, 2017, after a careful review of all known facts and circumstances, the Virginia Parole Board recommended a conditional pardon; and

WHEREAS, Travis Hassan May appears to be a proper subject for clemency, specifically for favorable consideration of his petition for a conditional pardon;

Travis Hassan May shall be subject to arrest upon cause shown by the Virginia Parole Board or the Parole Officer.

Commutation/Reprieve

Burns, William Joseph

TO ALL WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME – GREETINGS:

In accordance with the powers granted to me as Governor of Virginia under Article V, Section 12 of the Constitution of Virginia, I, Terence R. McAuliffe, do hereby grant to William Joseph Burns, a commutation of the death sentence imposed by the Circuit Court of the County of Shenandoah to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole. This Commutation is based on the following:

On September 20, 1998, William Joseph Burns committed the brutal rape and murder of his mother-in-law Tersey Elizabeth Cooley, who was 73-years-old. He was tried and convicted of capital murder in the commission of rape and/or forcible sodomy, statutory burglary, rape, and forcible sodomy. For his capital offense, the jury imposed the death sentence on Mr. Burns. Judgment was entered on May 12, 2000, which was affirmed by the Supreme Court of Virginia on March 2, 2001.

In habeas proceedings, Mr. Burns raised the issue of intellectual disability, and his competency to stand trial had been raised and rejected during his trial. Subsequent to the judgment imposing the death sentence on Mr. Burns, the United States Supreme Court ruled in Atkins v. Virginia, 536 U.S. 304 (2002) that it was a violation of the Eighth Amendment to execute the intellectually disabled as cruel and unusual punishment.

Invoking procedures established by the Virginia General Assembly to adjudicate Atkins claims in post-conviction proceedings, Mr. Burns sought to adjudicate the issue of his alleged intellectual disability. Success in establishing his intellectual disability would have made him ineligible for the death sentence. During those proceedings, Mr. Burns again showed signs of severe mental illness. His attorneys moved the trial court to rule Mr. Burns incompetent to participate in the Atkins proceedings, as a court-appointed psychiatrist had found him to suffer from “psychosis, impairment of autobiographical memory, derailment of language and thought, and significant social deterioration.”

The trial court ruled that his competence was not required to proceed; however, this issue was appealed, and the Supreme Court of Virginia ruled that Mr. Burns has a constitutional right to be competent for adjudication of his intellectual disability claims. It remanded the case to the trial court for further proceedings, but ruled that it could not proceed to trial on the intellectual disability claim unless and until Mr. Burns was mentally competent. See Burns v. Commonwealth, 279 Va. 243 (2010).

Mr. Burns has long-suffered from severe mental illness. Indeed, since 1999, six forensic psychologists or psychiatrists have evaluated him and found him not competent to stand trial. His trial was delayed due to his lack of competency, and, since being in custody, has not showed signs of stabilizing. Treating and consulting experts have confirmed that Mr. Burns is not likely to be restored to competence. Additionally, a psychiatric expert found little evidence to support any theory that Mr. Burns is malingering impairments.

On remand from the Supreme Court of Virginia, Mr. Burns’s case is trapped in a procedural loop that has taxed the resources of the Commonwealth without sign of it ending anytime soon. To date, over $350,000 has been spent treating, transferring, monitoring, and litigating whether Mr. Burns has the mental competence to conduct a trial on whether he has the intellectual capacity to be executed.

I have considered the views of the Commonwealth’s Attorney who prosecuted Mr. Burns and the victim’s family, who oppose clemency in this case. But continuing down the current path with Mr. Burns involves a long process fraught with constitutional jeopardy and uncertain outcomes. Assuming Mr. Burns could be returned to competency, he would have to remain competent for the course of adjudicating his intellectual disability claim. Assuming the jury finds he is not intellectually disabled, he will again be on death row awaiting execution. Should his appeals be exhausted and an execution date set, he will need to be mentally competent for his execution, which will involve further litigation and risk that the sentence cannot lawfully be imposed.

As Governor, it is my responsibility to ensure that the Commonwealth carries out the death penalty in accordance with the requirements of the Constitution, which forbids cruel and unusual punishment (here, potential execution of the intellectually disabled) and requires due process (here, the mental competence to participate in one's defense). These are unyielding requirements, and I have concluded that continued pursuit of the execution of Mr. Burns, both as a matter of constitutional principle and legal practicality, cannot be justified.

There is no doubt that Mr. Burns committed an unimaginably heinous crime. He will not evade punishment—he will be incarcerated for the remainder of his life. Commuting Mr. Burns's sentence to life without possibility of parole brings finality to these legal proceedings; it assures the victim's family that Mr. Burns will never again enjoy freedom, but without the torment of post-trial litigation; and it allows the Commonwealth to devote its resources towards other cases. In my view, this is the only reasonable course.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Terence R. McAuliffe, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, in accordance with the authority granted to me under Article V, Section 12 of the Constitution of Virginia, do hereby grant to William Joseph Burns a commutation of his sentence of death for capital murder imposed by the Circuit Court of the County of Shenandoah to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole.

Given under my hand and under the Lesser Seal of the Commonwealth at Richmond, this 29th day of December, Two Thousand Seventeen and the 242nd year of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Teleguz, Ivan

TO ALL WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME – GREETINGS:

In accordance with the powers granted to me as Governor of Virginia under Article V, Section 12 of the Constitution of Virginia, I, Terence R. McAuliffe, do hereby grant to Ivan Teleguz, a commutation of the death sentence imposed by the Circuit Court of the County of Rockingham to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole. This Commutation is based on the following conclusions:

On July 21, 2001, Stephanie Sipe, a 20-year-old mother of a young child, was viciously murdered near Harrisonburg, Virginia. Attention turned immediately to her former boyfriend, Ivan Teleguz. Sipe had gotten a court to order Teleguz to pay child support, and it was suspected Teleguz was motivated by anger over that dispute. Investigators interviewed Teleguz at his residence in Lancaster, Pennsylvania where he was then living. Blood found at the scene did not result in a DNA match to Teleguz and there were no other witnesses.

For several years the case was cold until federal authorities received information from a federal prisoner, Aleksey Safanov, that Teleguz had hired someone to kill Sipe. Safanov was facing federal firearms charges and facing deportation. Safanov's information led law enforcement authorities to Edwin Gilkes and Michael Hetrick. A DNA match confirmed that the blood left at the scene came from Hetrick. He then confessed to killing Sipe. In exchange for his testimony and to avoid the death penalty, Hetrick agreed to testify against Teleguz, claiming that Teleguz hired him and Gilkes to kill Sipe. Teleguz was subsequently arrested, indicted, convicted, and sentenced to death.

Ivan Teleguz's petition for clemency came to me after exhaustive appeals and litigation of the case. Numerous state and federal judges have weighed the case and refused to grant relief to Mr. Teleguz. These reviewing courts have considered a number of issues raised by both Teleguz and the Commonwealth within the procedural restrictions of the court system. As Governor, I am not similarly constrained in my review of petitions brought before me, but I must review each petition with great deference to the other two branches of government. It is a great responsibility with which I am entrusted and a power which I do not invoke lightly. However, the admission of certain evidence at trial has given me great concern regarding how the jury arrived at a sentence of death. These concerns lead me now to commute Teleguz's sentence from death to life imprisonment.

First, during the trial, evidence was admitted implicating Mr. Teleguz in another murder in a small Pennsylvania town. In arguing for the death penalty, the prosecutor made explicit reference to this evidence in arguing that Mr. Teleguz was so dangerous that he needed to be put to death.

We now know that no such murder occurred, much less with any involvement by Mr. Teleguz. It was false information, plain and simple, and while I am sure that the evidence was admitted in a good-faith belief in its truthfulness at the time, we now know that to be incorrect.

Second, references were made throughout the trial, as hearsay evidence, that Mr. Teleguz was a member of the Russian mafia. No evidence was introduced to support that, yet the specter was raised in his trial.

Third, there is evidence that these factors did, in fact, influence the jury in the sentencing phase of the trial. During their deliberations, jurors submitted a questionnaire to the judge asking whether Mr. Teleguz had access to their personal information and addresses, suggesting the concern that he would be a danger to the jury members if he were sentenced to life in prison. The judge confirmed to the jury that Mr. Teleguz did have access to this information. Subsequent affidavits show that jurors stated that this fear drove their decision to impose the death sentence.

I am also mindful of the appearance of disproportionate sentences in this case. Michael Hetrick is the person who walked into Stephanie Sipe's home and brutally attacked and murdered her. To save his own life, he negotiated a deal to serve life in prison and avoid the death penalty. There is no question that he is every bit as responsible for Stephanie Sipe's murder as Ivan Teleguz.

When the Commonwealth seeks to carry out its most severe punishment, it is of paramount importance that the public have confidence in our judicial system that seeks to impose the ultimate punishment. In light of the above factors and having reviewed the totality of the circumstances surrounding the imposition of the death sentence in this case, I am compelled to commute Teleguz's death sentence.

It is impossible to understand the pain this decision may cause the Sipe family and my heart truly aches for the family, especially Stephanie's young son who must grow up without both parents.

As Governor, however, I must make those difficult decisions which I believe are ultimately in the best interests of our entire Commonwealth.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Terence R. McAuliffe, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, in accordance with the authority granted to me under Article V, Section 12 of the Constitution of Virginia, do hereby grant to Ivan Teleguz a commutation of his sentence of death for capital murder imposed by the Circuit Court of the County of Rockingham to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole.

Given under my hand and under the Lesser Seal of the Commonwealth at Richmond, this 20th day of April, Two Thousand Seventeen and the 241st year of the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Absolute Pardons

Dick, Jr., Joseph; Tice, Derek Elliot; Williams, Danial; and Wilson, Eric C (Norfolk Four)

TO ALL WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME – GREETINGS:

1. Danial Williams, Joseph J. Dick, Jr., Derek Elliott Tice, and Eric C. Wilson were each charged with the rape and murder of Michelle Moore-Bosko who was found murdered in her apartment in the City of Norfolk on July 8, 1997. Each defendant was adjudicated in the Circuit Court for the City of Norfolk and sentenced to various periods of incarceration.
2. Eric C. Wilson was acquitted of murder and convicted of rape in 1999, and sentenced to serve eight and one-half years in prison. He was released from prison in 2005. Upon his release, he was required to register as a sex offender.

3. Danial Williams and Joseph J. Dick, Jr., each pled guilty to rape and murder in 1999. Concerns about the nature of the interrogations leading to the confessions, allegations of police misconduct, and the physical and forensic evidence in the case have led courts to question the validity of their confessions and the associated testimony.
4. Derek Elliott Tice was twice convicted of the rape and murder of Ms. Moore-Bosko. His first conviction was overturned by the Virginia Court of Appeals. He was convicted a second time by the trial court in 2003. In 2011, the United States Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit affirmed the district court's grant of his petition for habeas relief.
5. The commonality of facts and judicial proceedings have led all four men, by counsel, to collectively petition this office for an absolute pardon of their individual convictions.
6. For nearly 20 years, questions concerning the innocence of the four men have dominated discussions surrounding the case. Court challenges have addressed numerous aspects of the case including the quality of representation, the conduct of the interrogations which led to the initial confessions, allegations of police misconduct, the role of Omar Ballard, and numerous other procedural issues.
7. Omar Ballard is currently serving two life sentences for the rape and murder of Moore-Bosko. Forensic evidence showed that only his DNA was found on items in the victim's room, on the body of the victim, and under her fingernails. No other evidence connecting the four petitioners to the crime was found at the scene. Ballard's description of the scene and the manner in which he carried out the crimes were determined by law enforcement officials and subsequent reviewing courts to be the most credible description of events in light of the forensic and physical evidence collected from the scene.
8. The numerous questions surrounding the case led former Governor Tim Kaine to grant conditional pardons to Williams, Tice and Dick, with the Governor noting that each petitioner had raised substantial doubts about his convictions and the propriety of continued incarceration. Williams, Tice and Dick were still incarcerated at the time of the pardons. Wilson had been released several years earlier.
9. In 2012, the U.S. Department of the Navy's Naval Discharge Review Board upgraded the character of Williams' service from "Other Than Honorable" to "Honorable", reflecting the concerns about the nature of the evidence presented against him.
10. In September 2016, United States District Court Judge John Gibney, following an evidentiary hearing, issued an order finding that Williams and Dick had "satisfied the standard for a gateway claim of actual innocence." Judge Gibney made it clear that he did not believe the evidence in the case supported a conviction against any of the four men or anyone other than Omar Ballard.
11. Recent criminal record checks for each petitioner revealed no new convictions for any petitioner.

12. Therefore, upon careful deliberation and review of all the information and circumstances of the matter, I have decided it is just and appropriate to grant Danial Williams, Joseph J. Dick, Jr., Derek Elliott Tice, and Eric C. Wilson each an ABSOLUTE PARDON that reflects each requestor's innocence of the rape and murder of Michelle Moore-Bosko for which they were each convicted in the Circuit Court for the City of Norfolk.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Terence R. McAuliffe, Governor of the Commonwealth of Virginia, in accordance with the authority granted to me under Article V, Section 12 of the Constitution of Virginia, do hereby grant unto Danial Williams, Joseph J. Dick, Jr., Derek Elliott Tice, and Eric C. Wilson an Absolute Pardon from the convictions handed down by the Circuit Court for the City of Norfolk.

Given under my hand and under the Lesser Seal of the Commonwealth at Richmond, this 21st day of March, Two Thousand Seventeen and the 241st year of the Commonwealth of Virginia.
