Appropriation Overview

Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts will administer the Early STEM Arts and Literacy program for preschool, kindergarten, and 1st grade students in Accomack, Albemarle, Arlington, Chesterfield, Fairfax, Henrico, Loudoun, Norfolk, Petersburg, Richmond, Suffolk, and Wythe Public Schools. The model will also support growth in the 5C skills identified in the Profile of a Virginia Graduate. Within this appropriation, funds may support the phase-in of services into currently unserved divisions in an equitable manner, with a special focus on capacity building and establishing new services in Superintendent's Regions 3, 6, or 8. Wolf Trap Foundation will work with the Department of Education and currently served divisions to determine need and phase programs into unserved divisions. Wolf Trap Foundation will report bi-annually to the Chairs of the House Committee on Education and the Senate Committee on Education and Health and the Superintendent of Public Instruction on its activities, including number of divisions served, number of students served, number of educators served, and number of families impacted.

WOLF TRAP INSTITUTE OVERVIEW

Wolf Trap Institute for Early Learning Through the Arts (Wolf Trap Institute), a program of Wolf Trap Foundation for the Performing Arts, has long been recognized as a national model for utilizing the performing arts to support young children's cognitive, social/emotional, and physical development to prepare them for school, while enhancing educators' instructional skills through effective arts-integrated professional development. Wolf Trap Institute was established in 1981 under a grant from the Head Start Bureau of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. In the decades since, Wolf Trap Institute has earned a national reputation for excellence and innovation in arts-integrated early childhood education and now works with 25 affiliates, nationally and internationally, as well as other independent sites across the country with a presence in 30 states, the District of Columbia, and Singapore.

WOLF TRAP INSTITUTE PROGRAM SERVICES

Services were provided through funding from the Virginia Department of Education and/or by Wolf Trap Foundation at no cost to the Commonwealth of Virginia.

CLASSROOM RESIDENCIES

Classroom Residencies are a hallmark of Wolf Trap Institute programs. Wolf Trap Institute brings professional performing artists - musicians, dancers, actors, or puppeteers trained in the Institute model as Wolf Trap Teaching Artists - into early childhood classrooms to provide innovative and effective arts-integrated strategies that align with curriculum objectives and support children's development.

Wolf Trap Institute's Classroom Residency model provides direct, in-classroom services to children while emphasizing the professional development of early childhood educators, enabling them to infuse the performing arts into classroom instruction. Improving early childhood educators' ability to achieve learning objectives for children in their classrooms yields a greater, more sustained impact, as teachers will use the arts strategies and skills they learn throughout their careers.

Classroom Residencies are creative partnerships between Wolf Trap Teaching Artists and early childhood educators, who collaborate in using the performing arts to engage children, enrich their learning, and reinforce the curriculum. A Wolf Trap Teaching Artist works individually with each teacher to develop lesson plans and customize the residency to the needs of the teacher and the class. Each residency includes orientation and planning sessions, participatory classroom sessions led by the teaching artist in partnership with the teacher, and follow-up discussions between the teacher and the teaching artist.

VIRTUAL RESIDENCIES

Virtual residencies offer professional development opportunities for early childhood educators, providing an alternative to in-person residencies. As with in-person classroom residencies, virtual residencies provide innovative and effective arts-integrated strategies that align with curriculum objectives and support children's development. A Wolf Trap Teaching Artist works individually with each teacher to develop lesson plans and customize the residency to the needs of the teacher and the class. Virtual residencies consist of five sessions, plus an additional planning meeting. The educator has the option to bring a Wolf Trap Teaching Artist into a classroom setting, or to work one-on-one with a Wolf Trap Teaching Artist to create arts experiences the teacher can incorporate into lesson planning and engagement with children and families.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT WORKSHOPS

Wolf Trap Institute Professional Development Workshops are led by Master Teaching Artists who specialize in music, movement, drama, or puppetry and engage participants in the natural connections between the performing arts and children's learning. These intensive, interactive sessions increase teachers' confidence in using the performing arts to foster children's cognitive, social/emotional, and physical development. Topics include math, science, engineering, literacy, and classroom management.

In-person workshops last up to three hours; virtual workshops are one hour

FAMILY INVOLVEMENT WORKSHOPS

Wolf Trap Institute Family Involvement Workshops are led by Wolf Trap Teaching Artists and bring young children and their siblings, parents, and caregivers together through shared arts experiences. The workshops introduce parents and caregivers to a variety of simple yet effective arts-based activities they can conduct with their children at home and within daily routines.

In-person workshops last up to one hour; virtual workshops are 30 minutes

ARTS INTEGRATION SYMPOSIA

Wolf Trap Institute Early Childhood Arts Integration Symposia feature Teaching Artists, local arts organizations, school officials, community leaders, and thought leaders. The symposia audience includes early childhood educators/administrators, artists, community and business leaders, public officials, family specialists, and funders. Symposia focuses on the role of arts integration influencing particular aspects of early childhood development (e.g. STEM learning, social/emotional learning, health and wellness) and is framed within the context of its long-term impact on critical systemic challenges affecting communities. Attendees participate in interactive demonstrations on how arts integration is effectively used to support early childhood development.

CONFERENCE PRESENTATIONS & WEBINARS

Wolf Trap Institute presents webinars and presentations at local/statewide Virginia conferences. Conference presentations and webinars inform early childhood educators about the use of developmentally appropriate active arts learning experiences to support children's understanding of curricular topics and promote creativity, critical thinking, collaboration, and communication skills. Webinars are made available to early childhood educators across the Commonwealth.

NEW TEACHING ARTIST RECRUITMENT AND TRAINING

Wolf Trap Institute recruits and trains new teaching artists, with a focus on attracting a diverse community of teaching artists, including those speaking English and other languages, through outreach to community partners in new and current Virginia service areas.

FIELD TRIP PERFORMANCES

Field Trip Performances to Wolf Trap's Children's Theatre-in-the-Woods Children's Performances provide children and families opportunities to experience live performing arts in their community.

PROGRAM REPORTING

Wolf Trap Foundation met with Virginia Department of Education's Division of Early Childhood Care and Education three times to report on program progress (October 14, 2022, February 3, 2023, and June 26, 2023) and submitted a mid-year report to Virginia Department of Education on January 11, 2023.

Yearlong Sponsorship

Wolf Trap Institute became an annual sponsor of the Virginia Head Start Association (VAHSA) for the 2022-2023 program year. The sponsorship provided multiple opportunities for Wolf Trap Institute to engage new partners, including presenting to a large audience at the VAHSA annual conference and introductions by VAHSA to Head Start partners in unserved and/or target areas of the state.

Consultant, Wolf Trap Institute

Wolf Trap Institute engaged Dr. Sheila Ward, a professor in the Department of Health, Physical Education and Exercise Science at Norfolk State University, as a consultant for the project year. Dr. Ward facilitated introductions to university professors and staff in arts and early childhood, as well as introductions to artists local to the Norfolk region. She was instrumental in establishing a partnership with Norfolk State University, host site of the May 18, 2023 symposium.

Affiliate Development

Wolf Trap Institute announced Coastal Virginia Wolf Trap, sponsored by Arts for Learning Virginia, to serve as Wolf Trap Institute affiliate in the Tidewater region. Coastal Virginia Wolf Trap will build program sustainability in the region and maximize the program's reach and impact.

Program Evaluation

Throughout the 2022-2023 school year, Wolf Trap Institute collaborated with the Manhattan Strategy Group (MSG) to conduct an evaluation of Wolf Trap Institute's Classroom Residency program in Virginia school districts. MSG conducted this mixed-method outcome-based evaluation study that examined the effects of in-person and virtual arts-based professional development models on early childhood educators' practices and teacher-child interactions. Results will be available in late fall 2023.
