Line of Duty Act Eligibility Determination Report 2024

Report to the General Assembly of Virginia

Introduction

The Line of Duty Act (LODA) program, Title 9.1 of the Code of Virginia, was established in 1972. LODA provides benefits to eligible family members of eligible employees and volunteers killed in the line of duty and to those eligible employees and volunteers disabled in the line of duty and their eligible family members.

Employers fund LODA benefits in one of two ways:

- Participation in the Line of Duty Act Trust Fund (LODA Fund) administered by the Virginia Retirement System (VRS).
- Self-funding by the employer or through the employer's insurance company.

Initially, the Department of Accounts (DOA) administered the program, with VRS overseeing the LODA Trust Fund. However, the 2017 General Assembly passed House Bill 1345 making VRS the LODA program administrator and the Virginia Department of Human Resource Management (DHRM) responsible for administering the LODA Health Benefits Plans.

As required in Title 9.1, the benefits include premium-free medical coverage, one-time retroactive health insurance premium reimbursement when applicable, and, in the case of approved death claims, a one-time death benefit payment. The one-time retroactive health insurance premium reimbursement covers health insurance premiums paid between the date the employer ceased to subsidize medical premiums and the health benefits plan enrollment date.

As established in statute, VRS makes eligibility decisions for eligible individuals whose disabling condition is likely to be permanent or whose death occurred in the line of duty because of a work-related accident or a presumptive illness. In addition to determining eligibility, VRS issues benefit payments on behalf of the LODA Fund participating employers, issues notification for benefit payments for employers who opted not to participate in the LODA Fund (LODA Fund non-participating employers), and handles the daily management of the program, including actuarial oversight of the LODA Fund. VRS partners with DHRM, the Virginia State Police and the VRS medical review board to administer the program. The VRS medical review board is an independent, third-party administrator comprised of physicians and other healthcare professionals who review medical records provided by the LODA claimant.

The LODA Health Benefits Plans administered by DHRM provide premium-free medical coverage for approved LODA applicants, eligible spouses, and eligible dependent children. Eligibility for applicants, spouses, and dependents is defined in § 9.1-400 of the Code of Virginia. DHRM uses income verification, remarriage, death of health plan participant, dependent eligibility based on age, return to full duty and Medicare eligibility due to age (approved applicants with a date of disability after July 1, 2017) to determine eligibility for the LODA Health Benefits Plans.

As required by the 2024 Appropriation Act, this report summarizes the LODA program claims data, eligibility decisions and program costs for fiscal year 2024 (FY 2024).

The specific requirement in Item 484(H) of the 2024 Appropriation Act is cited below:

The Virginia Retirement System and the Department of Human Resource Management shall report annually on or before January 1 to the Governor and the Virginia General Assembly the detailed aggregate of eligibility determinations for employees in accordance with § 9.1-400. This report shall tabulate claims data, types of injuries and associated costs with provided benefits. In accordance with § 9.1-408, the name of the employer or employee shall not appear in such publications and all documents to determine eligibility shall remain confidential.

Program Overview

State agencies with LODA-eligible employees participate automatically in the LODA Fund, which is administered by VRS. Political subdivisions were given the opportunity to opt out of the LODA Fund in 2012 for their eligible employees and volunteers. The election not to participate was irrevocable. Regardless of participation in the Fund, by statute, LODA benefits must be provided to eligible employees and volunteers.

LODA FUND PARTICIPATING EMPLOYERS

As of June 30, 2024, 106 employers participate in the LODA Fund.

Exhibit 1: Participating Employer LODA-Eligible Population on June 30, 2024

Participant Types	FY 2024*
Full-time Employees	15,968
Part-time Employees	843
Volunteers	1,985
National Guard	7,108
TOTAL Population	25,904

*Unaudited numbers

Participating employers pay VRS a LODA contribution rate. VRS, in turn, issues benefit payments on behalf of participating employers from the LODA Fund.

The Fund pays:

- LODA Health Benefits Plans premiums to DHRM.
- Death benefit payments to survivors.
- Retroactive health insurance reimbursements to individuals, as applicable.
- Virginia State Police investigation fee.
- Funeral expenses to funeral homes, if requested by claimant.

Annually, participating employers provide VRS with a list of eligible employees and volunteers from the prior fiscal year, along with payment of the LODA contribution rate based on that population. The VRS Board of Trustees approves the LODA Fund contribution rate, which is a per capita rate (an amount the employer or organization pays per eligible participant).

Exhibit 2: Participating Employer Per Capita Contribution Rate

Participants	FY 2024 Rate
Full-time/Part-time Participants	$830.00
Volunteers	$207.50
National Guard Members	$83.00

LODA FUND NON-PARTICIPATING EMPLOYERS

There is no requirement for non-participating employers to report covered personnel to VRS. However, a 2024 voluntary survey, with a 66% participation rate, indicated there were 40,903 LODA-covered personnel with these employers.

Localities that opted out of the LODA Fund in 2012 must provide their own source of funding for LODA benefits. As of June 30, 2024, there are 228 non-participating employers. Because they do not contribute to the LODA Fund, non-participating employers are responsible for paying LODA benefits to qualifying employees and volunteers. Their program costs include:

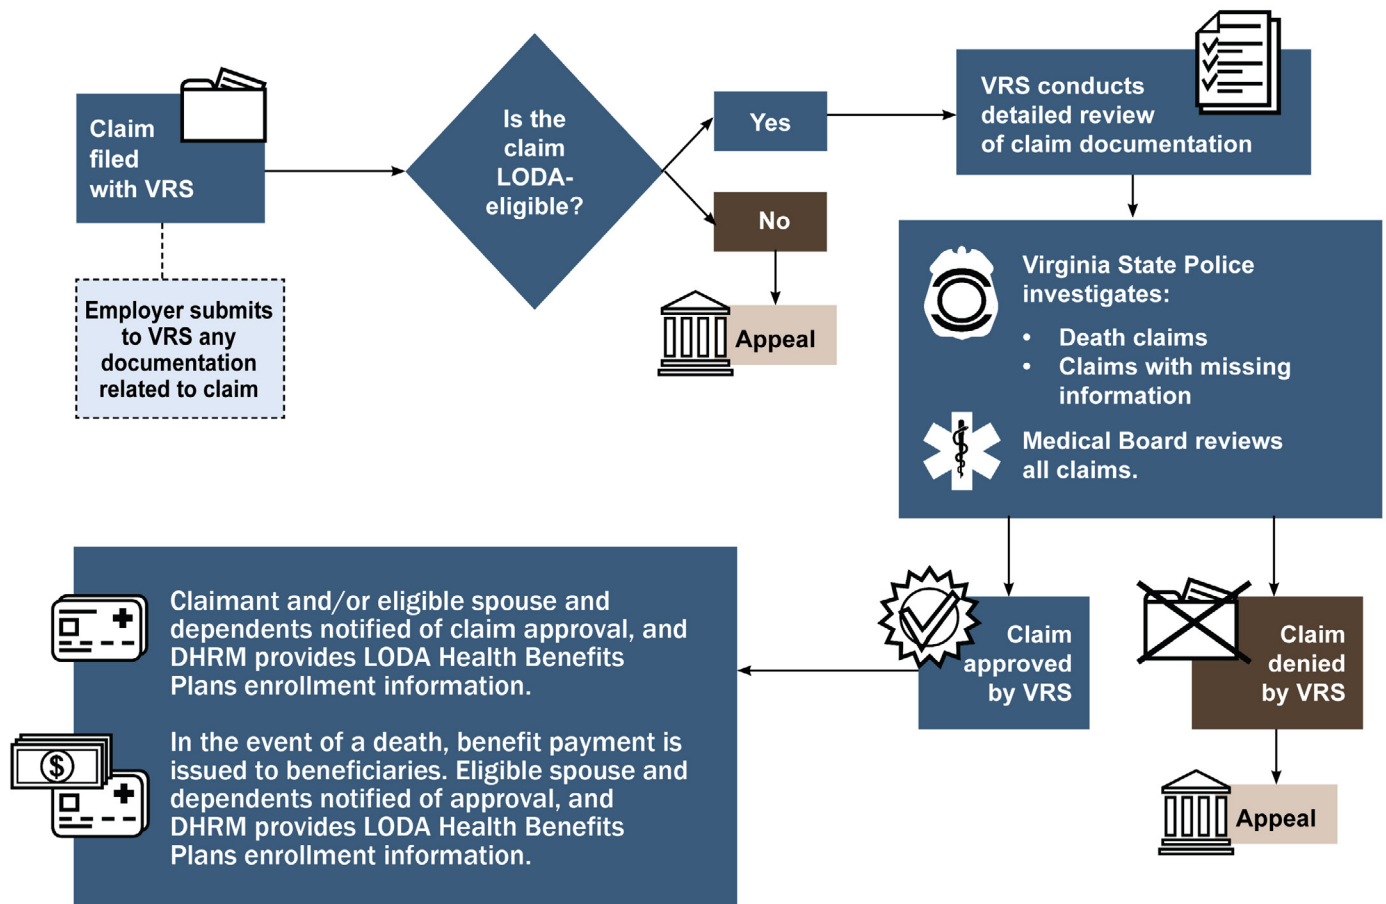

- LODA Health Benefits Plans premiums to DHRM.
- Death benefit payments to survivors.
- Retroactive health insurance reimbursements to individuals, as applicable.
- Virginia State Police investigation fee.
- Funeral expenses to funeral homes, if requested by claimant.
- VRS administrative fee of $3,750 per claim. (If a claim is denied during the preliminary review period, the fee is $250.)

Claims Process

Claims are received from applicants who work or volunteer in a LODA-covered position for either a participating or non-participating employer.

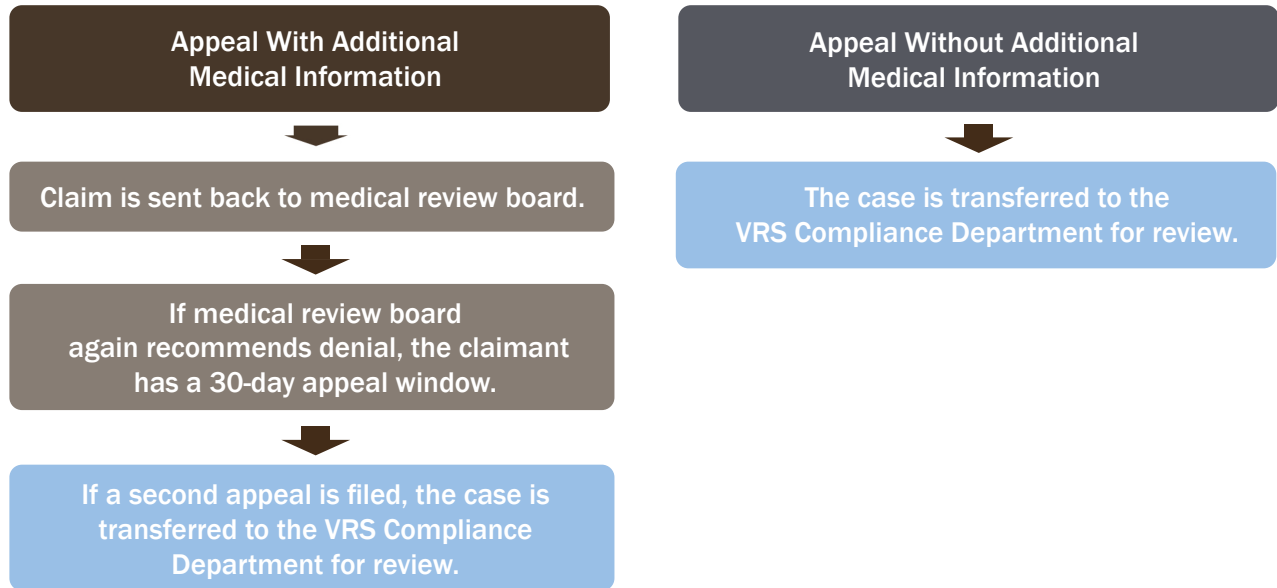

- VRS provides LODA eligibility decisions for all employers, regardless of LODA fund participation.
- VRS notifies each employer of claims received from employees and the subsequent claims decisions.

Exhibit 3: LODA Claims Flow Process

If a claim is denied, two appeal paths are available.

Exhibit 4: Two Paths to Appeal LODA Claims

WHEN A LODA DEATH CLAIM IS APPROVED

VRS notifies the eligible spouse and eligible children, as well as the employer, of LODA claim approval and includes information about the premium-free health insurance through the LODA Health Benefits Plans administered by DHRM. DHRM provides the enrollment application, determines if applicants are eligible for coverage and notifies the eligible spouse and children when approved for coverage.

The beneficiary/beneficiaries receive a one-time death benefit payment based on a valid will. If no will exists, the payment is made according to the order of precedence as stipulated by the Code of Virginia (§ 64.2-200).

One-time LODA death benefit payment amounts are as follows:

- $100,000, if death occurs in the line of duty; or
- $25,000 for a presumptive death (cancer, heart issues, etc., associated with the job).

The LODA Fund pays an additional $20,000 benefit when certain members of the National Guard and U.S. military reserves are killed in action in any armed conflict.

WHEN A LODA DISABILITY CLAIM IS APPROVED

VRS notifies the claimant, eligible spouse, and eligible children, as well as the employer, of LODA claim approval and includes information about the premium-free health insurance available through the LODA Health Benefits Plans administered by DHRM. DHRM provides the enrollment application, determines if applicants are eligible for coverage and notifies the eligible spouse and children when approved for coverage.

Program Costs

The LODA Health Benefits Plans costs are the largest contributor to the overall LODA program costs.

LODA Health Benefits Plans, administered by DHRM, include premium-free coverage for:

- Eligible family members of employees or volunteers killed in the line of duty.
- Employees or volunteers determined to be disabled in the line of duty and their eligible family members.

DHRM bills the LODA Fund monthly for premium costs for the LODA health insurance plan that covers participating employers. DHRM also bills each non-participating employer monthly for health insurance premiums for their LODA-covered population.

LODA Health Benefits Plans participants who are eligible for coverage in the LODA Plan 3 – Medicare Primary are required to enroll in Medicare. Because enrollment is required, the eligible participant and spouse/dependents qualify for reimbursement of any Medicare premium that is being paid directly. This would include any Medicare Part B premium and, if applicable, any Part D income-related monthly adjustment amount (IRMAA). Participating and non-participating employers are responsible for reimbursement to the participant.

Additionally, in some cases, there may be a one-time reimbursement of unsubsidized health insurance premiums for LODA-approved individuals.

Exhibit 16 separates health benefits costs by LODA-participating employers and non-participating employers. Those costs include the LODA Health Benefits Plans costs, quarterly reimbursement of Medicare Part B premiums, and the one-time reimbursement of unsubsidized health insurance premiums for qualified individuals at the time of LODA approval.

Exhibit 16: Health Benefits Plans Costs

Health Insurance Premium Reimbursement for Participating Employers (unsubsidized premiums)	$128,448.00
TOTAL	$16,050,576.00

*Non-participating employer cost to reimburse for Medicare Part B premiums is not reported; and, therefore, not reflected in total.

Medical plan costs for participating and non-participating employers are about $31,463,419.00.

However, this cost is understated because it does not include reimbursement by non-participating employers for Medicare Part B.

Non-participating employers receive a payment from the VRS-administered health insurance credit program to reimburse these employers for health insurance premium costs for eligible individuals. In FY 2024, VRS transferred $145,556 to non-participating employers to reimburse some of the costs associated with health insurance premiums. VRS also transferred $500,608 to the LODA Trust Fund from the health insurance credit program for participating employers.

In FY 2024, health benefits enrollment increased.

Appendix

Claim – A LODA claim begins with the receipt of an Application for LODA benefits.

Claimant – An eligible employee or volunteer applying for LODA benefits (disability claims) or someone applying on behalf of an eligible employee or volunteer (death claims).

Contribution Rates – LODA Fund participating employers pay a per capita contribution rate to the LODA Fund to cover the cost of LODA benefits, meaning the amount the state agency or political subdivision contributes per paid employee (full-time and part-time) and volunteer.

Death Benefit – One-time payment made to the beneficiary or beneficiaries of the deceased person and paid based on the provisions set by the will of the deceased person. If there is no will, the benefit is paid according to the order of precedence defined in the Code of Virginia § 64.2-200. On July 1, 2017, Code of Virginia § 9.1-400 was amended making changes to the HIC transfer program to include covered spouses and providing a transfer of funds to non-participating employers. For LODA participants, health insurance premiums are paid directly by the LODA Fund or by the non-participating employer. The applicable HIC reimbursements are transferred annually from the Retiree HIC Trust Fund to reimburse the LODA Fund or the non-participating employer.
