Executive Summary

The Virginia Plan to Increase Independent Living Options (VPIILO) serves as the Commonwealth's roadmap for expanding access to independent, integrated housing opportunities for adults with developmental disabilities. Established in 2013 to fulfill the requirements of the U.S. Department of Justice Settlement Agreement, the Plan continues to guide interagency collaboration among the members of the Commonwealth's Permanent Supportive Housing Steering Committee and its executives through an Interagency Leadership Team (ILT).

The VPIILO is developed and implemented through a coordinated interagency and stakeholder structure that includes the Permanent Supportive Housing Steering Committee and the Integrated Housing Advisory Committee (IHAC). Together, these entities identify priorities, track progress, and ensure that the Plan remains responsive to evolving needs and opportunities.

The Plan defines "independent living" as housing that is affordable, accessible, and community-based, and where individuals with developmental disabilities lease or own their homes without service participation being a condition of tenancy. It also affirms the Commonwealth's commitment to ensuring that at least ten percent of adults who receive (or are eligible to receive) a Developmental Disability (DD) Waiver are living independently.

To achieve these outcomes, VPIILO establishes four overarching goals:

1. Increase Affordability of Independent Living;
2. Expand Housing Options;
3. Build Understanding and Awareness of Independent Living Opportunities; and
4. Ensure Effective Access to housing and related supports.

Each goal is supported by strategies and measurable action items that assign lead responsibilities, outline timelines, and identify resources and performance indicators. Quarterly reporting and ongoing data review through DBHDS's Quality Management System ensure transparency and accountability.

Since inception, Virginia has made substantial progress. The number of adults with developmental disabilities living independently has grown from 341 individuals in 2013 to 2,305 individuals as of Fiscal Year 2025 – a total of 9.8% of the target population. This progress has been made possible through targeted rental assistance programs, including DBHDS's State Rental Assistance Program (SRAP), Virginia Housing's HUD Section 811 PRAC initiative, and Public Housing Authority partnerships, which together now support thousands of individuals with extremely low incomes in securing affordable, accessible homes.

Additionally, the Low-Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) Leasing Preference established by Virginia Housing has generated more than 805 units placed in service statewide designated for individuals with DD, and 26.7% of those units already leased by individuals with developmental disabilities. Regional variation in utilization highlights the ongoing importance of adequate DD Waiver service availability and housing support services such as Community Housing Guides (CHGs), which provide pre- and post-tenancy support to promote successful community living.

The 2025 update to the Plan, attached as an appendix to this report builds on this foundation, setting the stage for the next phase of system improvement and expansion.

The Virginia Plan to Increase Independent Living Options (VPIILO)

History

On March 3, 2013, the Commonwealth of Virginia developed the first Virginia Plan to Increase Independent Living Options (hereinafter referred to as the “Plan” or VPIILO) to increase the availability of independent living options for individuals with developmental disabilities. The Plan met the requirements of Section III.D.3 of the Settlement Agreement with the United States Department of Justice (DOJ). Interagency implementation of the plan continues even as the Commonwealth has entered Permanent Injunction status.

The Plan is developed, monitored, and updated annually by the Virginia Department of Behavioral Health and Developmental Services (DBHDS) along with an Interagency Leadership Team and Permanent Supportive Housing Steering Committee composed of representatives from Virginia Housing (formerly Virginia Housing and Development Authority), the Virginia Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), and the Virginia Department of Medical Assistance Services (DMAS).

A stakeholder advisory group, the Integrated Housing Advisory Committee (IHAC), operates under a charter and includes ex-officio representation from state agencies and a variety of stakeholder groups including providers, individuals with developmental disabilities and their family members, housing developers, and advocacy organizations. IHAC meets quarterly and reviews the status of VPIILO implementation and advises annual plan development. DBHDS provides operational support to IHAC.

The target population under this plan is adults with developmental disabilities who meet any of the following additional criteria: (1) currently reside at a state facility (formerly, training center) (2) receive Medicaid Developmental Disability (DD) waiver services or are eligible to receive a DD waiver and are on the DD waiver waitlist, or (3) currently reside in a nursing home or private Intermediate Care Facility (ICF) and meet the level of functioning criteria to be eligible for a DD waiver.

For the purposes of the Plan, living options are considered independent if they have the following characteristics:

- The individual does not reside with a parent, grandparent, or legal guardian;
- The individual lives in housing types that anyone without a disability can live in, based on income;
- The individual has social, religious, educational and personal opportunities to fully participate in community life;
- Housing is affordable (i.e., the individual pays no more than 30-40% of his/her adjusted gross income);
- Housing is accessible (barrier free);

- Housing is leased/owned by the individual; and
- Housing is not contingent upon participation in services (and vice versa).

The Commonwealth continues to increase independent housing and services options with a goal that ten percent of the adult population of individuals using a DD Waiver services or on the waitlist for such a waiver. This target is derived from analysis of current service utilization data, available informal survey data, and national data/trends.

The Plan includes a set of goals, strategies and action items with specific start and end dates, agencies assuming lead responsibility for each action item, outcome measures, and the interagency in-kind and other resources dedicated to accomplishing each task/action item. Each goal is intended to cover a multi-year period, while strategies and action items reflect the planned activities for fiscal and/or calendar year. The status of each action item and any actual outcomes will continue to be reported on a quarterly basis.

Goals

VPIILO goals include the domains that have been identified to increase resources needed for independent, affordable housing options as well as to improve access to such resources through outreach, education, and development of resource linkages.

VPIILO goals are enumerated as follows:

1. Increase Affordability of Independent Living
2. Expanding Housing Options
3. Building Understanding and Awareness about the Need to Create Independent Housing Options for the Target Population and the Availability of those Housing Options.
4. Ensure Effective Access

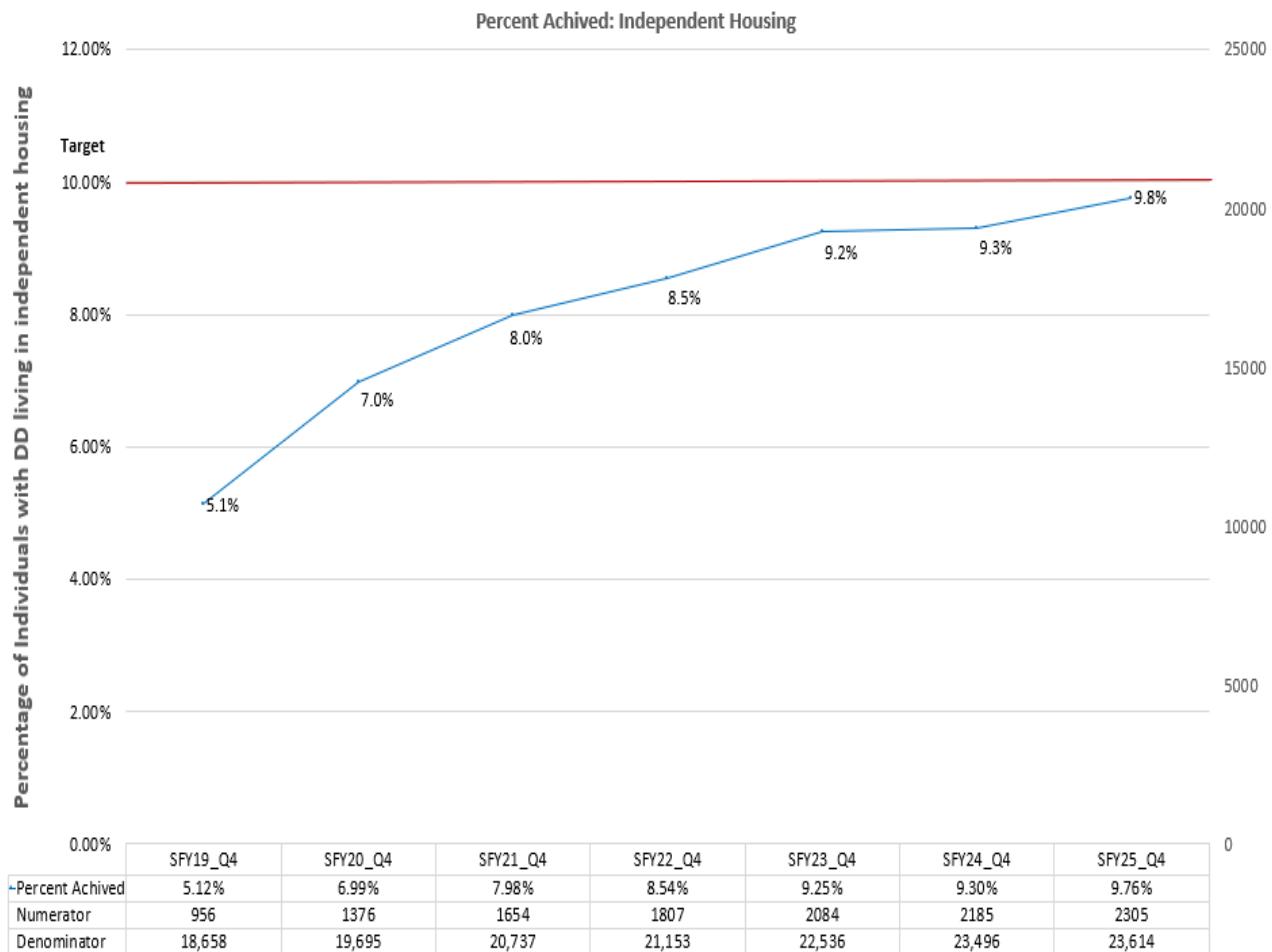

Activities under each goal are assigned lead or co-lead agencies who address implementation strategies through securing resources, modifying appropriate policies or regulations, and reporting back quarterly on progress to the Permanent Supportive Housing Steering Committee and IHAC. Quantifiable outcomes are included in VPIILO quarterly reporting and have historically been reported and reviewed by the Department of Justice. High level outcomes continue to be tracked through DBHDS's Quality Management System for developmental disability services.

The 2025 VPIILO is included as an appendix to this report.

Key Outcomes

The overall aim of this interagency collaboration is to improve access to independent housing for individuals with developmental disabilities. At the outset of the Settlement Agreement, DBHDS identified just 341 individuals who were living in independent housing. Today, Virginia has nearly achieved its target that ten percent of the adult population receiving DD Waiver services or on the waitlist for such a waiver live independently. At the end of Fiscal Year 2025, 2,305 individuals in the target population were living independently.

Because individuals in the target population have extremely low incomes, rental assistance is essential to ensuring affordable access. Long-term rental assistance has been committed to this effort by Virginia Housing (127 slots), various Public Housing Authorities (100), and DBHDS's State Rental Assistance Program (846 slots). Additionally, Virginia Housing secured a HUD Section 811 PRAC grant in 2020. The VH 811 program provides targeted rental assistance to both individuals with developmental disabilities and those with serious mental illness (SMI). However, implementation was delayed due to the COVID-19 pandemic. The original application to HUD requested the funding for 150 slots. Since the application (2019/2020) rents/costs have increased and VH is unsure if the funding will cover 150 units. VH is currently under contract for 93 units of 811, none of which are currently online yet. All 811 that has been awarded thus far is in new construction properties and the first units are expected to come online very late 2026 or early 2027.

Rental assistance ensures access to both affordable rental units on the private market as well as those in VH's Low Income Housing Tax Credit (LIHTC) program. VH has established a threshold requirement in its LIHTC program (both 4% and 9% programs) that requires that every development provide a leasing preference for state priority populations that have committed rental assistance. DBHDS and DHCD have entered into an MOU with VH that ensures access to its referrals for this leasing preference.

Since 2015, VH's leasing preference commitment has resulted in 1,609 units across the state that have been placed in service with this leasing preference. As of March 1, 2025, at least 805 units have come online for this population with 215 individuals with DD securing such a unit; therefore, 26.7% of the available units placed in service for this population have been utilized. VH and DBHDS coordinate at least bi-weekly to identify strategies to improve utilization. Such strategies have included improved outreach and communication with referral sources and LIHTC properties, modifications to the LIHTC Qualified Allocation Plan (QAP) to improve alignment of the units produced with the needs of the population, and reduction of access barriers to both SRAP and LIHTC units themselves.

Notably, all committed rental assistance sources are near maximum utilization. Increasing utilization of the LIHTC Leasing Preference will require additional appropriations to DBHDS's SRAP program

Table 1: LIHTC Leasing Preference (LP) Utilization by DBHDS DD Region

Region	Usable TPLP Slots	# Leased	% Leased
1	162.5	16	9.8%
2	219.5	93	42.4%
3	23	1	4.3%
4	184.5	8	4.3%
5	215	97	45.1%
Total	804.5	215	26.7%

In addition to rental assistance and affordable units, VPIILO targets cannot be met without the availability of appropriate support services. This is most evident in Table 1 where DBHDS regions identified to have limited availability of DD Waiver services have dramatically lower utilization. The redesign of Waiver services resulted in a set of services that are more aligned with supporting individuals in homes of their own, but uptake of these services has been inconsistent across the Commonwealth. DBHDS, DMAS and their partners continue to implement a wide variety of strategies to increase utilization of these services.

Among the redesigned Waiver services were two types of Community Guide services: General Community Guide and Community Housing Guide (CHG). CHG provides pre-tenancy and post-tenancy support services that directly assist individuals with identifying their housing needs and preferences, completing a housing search, moving into housing, connecting to other disability-specific services and natural supports, and understanding tenant rights and responsibilities to ensure housing retention. As of September 2025, 38 providers were enrolled as Community Housing Guides.

Conclusion

Over the past decade, the Commonwealth of Virginia has demonstrated sustained progress in expanding independent living opportunities for individuals with developmental disabilities. Through the implementation of the Virginia Plan to Increase Independent Living Options, state agencies and partners have built a durable framework that integrates housing policy, service delivery, and interagency coordination.

The measurable growth in independent living outcomes reflects both the strength of this collaboration and the Commonwealth's commitment to community inclusion. However, data also reveal persistent regional disparities and the need for continued investment, particularly in rental assistance, DD waiver service capacity, and provider development, to ensure equitable access across all areas of the state.

As the Commonwealth transitions from meeting federal settlement obligations to advancing long-term systems improvement, the continued success of VPIILO will depend on maintaining this interagency partnership, strengthening stakeholder engagement through IHAC, and securing the resources necessary to sustain affordable, accessible housing opportunities.

Virginia's achievements to date affirm that individuals with developmental disabilities can and do thrive in homes of their own when provided with the right mix of housing and support. The ongoing implementation of VPIILO ensures that this principle remains at the heart of the Commonwealth's housing and disability service systems.
